TWO PERSONS HURT IN AUTO COLLISION

Mrs. B. T. Smith and James E. Palsgrove of Shelbyville May be Injured Internally

CAR OVERTURNED BY ANOTHER

Accident at Cross Roads West of Gwynneville Obscured by Corn Fields—Were Coming Here

James E. Palsgrove and Mrs. B. T. Smith, both of Shelbyville, were seriously injured last evening about seven o'clock, when an automobile owned and driven by Mr. Palsgrove was struck by a Ford touring car at a cross roads intersection one mile west of Gwynneville. Both of the occupants were enroute to this city to attend the Rush county chautauqua, and especially to hear Mrs. Smith's son, Harry Smith, who is a member of the Davies Light Opera Company.

Palsgrove's automobile was a large touring car and they were intending to take part of the entertainers back to Shelbyville, where they were scheduled for an appearance today at the chautauqua in that city.

The machine was coming east on the Indianapolis road, and when they approached the intersection of another road, a Ford touring car driven and occupied by Shelbyville men, who were returning to their home from Carthage where they are employed, struck the machine broadside, throwing the larger machine upside down into the ditch, almost demolishing it.

Both the injured people were removed to the home of Alfred Arnold, who lived nearby, and Dr. A. G. Shauck of Arlington was summoned. He found that Palsgrove had a crushed chest, with probable internal injuries, and Mrs. Smith had received a bad fracture of the right collar bone and was also probably injured internally.

Mr. Smith, husband of the injured woman, was in Indianapolis and came here last evening to join her and attend the concert, but learned upon his arrival about the accident. He thought it best not to tell his son until after the performance was over, and then both father and son went to the Arnold home.

The occupants in the Ford touring car were not injured nor was the car damaged to a great extent, as they struck the touring car at

HITCH IN PLANS FOR SURRENDER OF VILLA

Disarmament of Former Bandit Leader and His Friends is Postponed For a Week

GEN. MARTINEZ DISAGREES

(By United Press.)

Torreón, Chihuahua, Mexico, Aug. 14.—Rumor of a hitch in the plans for the formal complete surrender of Francisco Villa and the demobilization of his army were circulated today. The disarmament of Villa's friends has been postponed for a week, General Martinez and the government's representative in the surrendering negotiations, suddenly returned to Mexico City.

A report of a break was denied by the general's chief of staff and by Villa. It was reported that General Martinez found it necessary to go to Mexico City to confer with President De La Huerta on details of the final surrender and also decide on the money to be paid each of Villa's 900 retainers approximately amounting to 9,000,000 pesos. It was learned, however that Martinez disagreed with the proposal that in addition to the armed guard of 50 men, the government allowed Villa to have also a body of 150 men as farm laborers on his ranch.

He pointed out that under such an arrangement Villa would always have 200 retainers at his disposal and go on a war path whenever he felt like it.

WAYNER'S BOND $5,000

Not Expected Man Charged With House Breaking Will Provide it

The bond in the case of Carey Wayne, who is held in jail here on a house breaking charge, was placed today at $5,000, which had not been provided at a late hour. Wayne was put in jail earlier in the week after being caught in Jackson, Mich., by Capt. Neil, a Big Four detective. The house breaking charge is for assisting in the robbery of the Dr. D. H. Dean residence about a year ago, when the Demaree gang was exposed. Wayne was allowed his freedom for turning state's evidence, but certain agreements that he made were not lived up to, it is alleged and he was arrested. It is not expected that he will be able to give bond, and will be held in jail until the September term of court.

Parley Which May End Russo-Polish War Begins This Morning, Warsaw Dispatch Says

ARE ENCIRCLING WARSAW.

Russians Reported Only 25 Miles From City on North—Poles Fight in Last Ditch

(By United Press.)

Moscow, Aug. 14.—"Both wings of our armies are continuing the movement encircling Warsaw", the Russian war office announced today.

Paris, Aug. 14.—Russian-Polish armistice negotiations began this morning at Minsk, according to a dispatch from Warsaw to the foreign office today. The Polish delegations passed through the front lines this morning and at once started the parley which may result in ending the hostilities between Poland and Russia.

Warsaw, Aug. 14.—With the Reds reported only 25 miles from the Warsaw on the north, thousands of people gathered here today and swore to defend the city to the last drop of blood.

The boom of guns could be heard in the distance as the throng gathered here.

Many armed women were in the crowd and soldiers who have been invalidated were going to the front again to resume the fight.

Despite the loyalty to the nation, it was evident that the great mass of people have lost faith in the army leaders and in the government.

Polish Bolshevik are busy behind the lines and boast that the Red tide is rising. Marshal Pilsudski, national hero, and leader of the armies, is closely guarded for fear of assassination.

Wrangel Starts Offensive

Paris, Aug. 14.—Backed by France, General Wrangel started an extensive offensive on the Crimean front to draw the Red troops away from Poland, according to an official dispatch received here today.

Wrangel was reported to have defeated thirteen Bolshevik armies, taking 4,000 prisoners. Three French cruisers are enroute to

Tennessee Men Will Not Surrender For Expediency
Nashville, Tennessee, Aug. 14.—Seth Walker, speaker of the house of representatives, today telegraphed to President Wilson that "the men of Tennessee will not surrender on its conviction for political expediency."
Walker's message to the president was in reply to one which urged that the house concur in the action of the senate and ratify the federal suffrage amendment.

$10,000 DAMAGE SUIT FILED TODAY

Maud H. Augur Makes Western Union Defendant as Result of Accident in Indianapolis

STRUCK BY A MESSENGER

Says Injuries Due to Being Run Down by Boy Caused Her Great Pain—Account Suit Filed

Maud H. Augur of this city, this morning filed suit against the Western Union Telegraph Company, demanding $10,000 damages for personal injuries received on Feb. 17 of this year, when she alleges that she was permanently injured, when struck by a messenger boy, riding a bicycle at a street intersection in Indianapolis.

The complaint avers that the plaintiff was walking west of the north side of Washington street in Indianapolis on the above date, and when crossing the street at Meridian street, a messenger boy employed at the office of the Western Union at 21 North Meridian, rode his wheel carelessly into her, knocking her down, and causing her many injuries.

She asserts in the complaint that the messenger boy was an employ of the Western Union, and acting as an agent and employee, she alleges that the company is liable for damages which she asserts befell her.

According to the complaint, she suffered bodily injuries; that it was necessary to have several teeth extracted; that an infection arose in an ear which was painful for weeks, and affected the hearing in the ear; that she suffered a nervous shock and suffered from nervousness and insomnia; that she paid $200 for bills caused by her injuries.

The plaintiff asserts that she has not recovered from the injuries and that they are permanent to a great extent, and because of such, demands judgment in the sum of $10,000.

George Urbach this morning brought suit against Herschell Miller on a complaint on account and to foreclose a mechanics lien. The charges set forth in the complaint allege that Miller in indebted to Urbach for automobile repairs and supplies and that a lien was taken on his Ford automobile, and because the bill amounting to $21.50 is unpaid, he demands that the lien be foreclosed and the debt paid.

WILL NOT BUILD A CONSOLIDATED SCHOOL

Jackson Township Officers Decide to Postpone it in Belief That Prices Will Come Down

COST MOUNTS TO OVER $100,000

The consolidated school building for Jackson township will not be built this year, according to the decision reached by the advisory board of Jackson township and Alva Newhouse, trustee of the township. The reason assigned for not building, is that the contract prices submitted were thought to be too high, and that building prices are expected to be lower next year.

A few weeks ago the bids were received for the erection of the building, at which time there were three bids for general construction, the highest being $75,000, and in addition to general construction, bids were also submitted for heating, ventilating, plumbing and lighting, which in all would have amounted to $100,000, not including the school ground land which must also be paid for.

Three acres of land have been condemned in Jackson township for the purpose of building and the deed has been assigned to the township trustee, but the price asked for it was $5,000 which was regarded as too high, and the case will come up for trial in the next term of court in order to determine the valuation of the land. This item was also given as one of the reasons for not allowing the contract.

VIEW WITH ALARM; POINT WITH PRIDE

Democratic Attitude in State Reverse of That in Nation, Candidates Point Out

HERE FOR THE CHAUTAUQUA

Henry N. Spaan and Dr. C. B. McCullough Declare Democrats Feel Certain of Victory

"Nationally we point with pride; in the state we view with alarm."

This in a few words expresses the democratic position in Indiana, according to Dr. G. B. McCullough of Vincennes, candidate for governor, and Henry N. Spaan of Indianapolis, candidate for congress in the seventh district, who arrived here shortly after one o'clock this afternoon to address an audience at three o'clock at the chautauqua.

J. T. Arbuckle was to preside at the chautauqua and Dr. McCullough expected to speak briefly on state issues first, to be followed by a set speech by Mr. Spaan. The two men were accompanied by a few candidates and they, together with a local reception committee, were entertained at the Scanlan house at lunch by Samuel L. Trabue of this city, secretary of the democratic state committee.

"We expect to carry Marion county this fall," declared Mr. Spaan. "The drift is all our way and it is only a question of organization. The democrats are enthusiastic and have no quarrel among themselves, while the republicans are quarreling and disorganized."

"The democrats feel if they don't win in Indiana this year, they may as well move out of the state," interjected Dr. McCullough. "When we go to a democratic meeting, we find them all on their toes and ready to work, but the republicans are continually complaining about the lack of interest in politics this year."

"Goodrichism has ruined the republican state organization and the senate cabal has ruined the national organization," commented Mr. Spaan. "That's the situation in a nutshell."

Dr. McCullough said that he expected to devote some attention in his speech this afternoon to the usurpation of the government in the state by the executive branch and to the tax law and what he termed

FORMER FIREMAN IS DEAD OF TUBERCULOSIS

Herman Kennedy, 33, Developed Disease From Exposure While Fighting Clark Fire

WIDOW AND FOUR CHILDREN

Herman Kennedy, 33 years old, expired this morning at six-thirty at his residence in West Sixth street, following a prolonged illness of tuberculosis, developing from exposure while engaged as a city fireman, in the fire that destroyed the Rush County Mills, in the early part of January.

Mr. Kennedy had been employed for almost two years as a fireman, and during the fire in January met with an accident, running a rusty nail in his foot, but he continued to assist in the fighting of the blaze and was finally compelled to seek medical attention, pneumonia developing within a few days, and later tuberculosis.

The deceased is survived by a widow and four children. The funeral will be held some time Monday, the exact hour not being determined upon. Interment will be made in East Hill cemetery.

TO OPEN SAW MILL

Fred Bell and F. W. Lightfoot have announced that they will open a saw mill on their farm two miles east of Gings for a limited period. The mill will be started to work up about 35 acres of timber and they will do work for other persons.

ACCUSED OF GRAND LARCENY

Otis Grubbs of Indianapolis Arrested on Charge Preferred Here

Otis Grubbs of Indianapolis, was arrested last night and returned to this city by Will Spivey, acting as deputy sheriff, and placed in jail on a charge of grand larceny, preferred by A. N. Harrold. Grubbs is charged by Harrold as having taken $60 worth of fixtures from the Windsor hotel building, while Grubbs was papering the interior of the building.

Grubbs, however, denied the accusation, and state that he had had trouble in securing money from Harrold for payment of the work, and had previously filed a lien in order to get his money. His bond was placed at $500, and it was expected that it would be furnished this afternoon.

ADMINISTRATION FALLACIES SHOWN

Gov. Morrow of Kentucky in Chautauqua Address Points to Failure of League

"BACK TO SANITY," APPEAL

Says United States is Asked to Plunge Into European Muddle With 10 Wars Raging

Governor Edwin Morrow of Kentucky, in a Republican address yesterday afternoon at the chautauqua, ridiculed the League of Nations, pointed out the fallacies of the Wilson administration and urged that the voters of this community, and especially the women, help get the country "back to sanity," by voting the Republican ticket.

Governor Morrow eloquently outlined the principles of the republican party, and devoting a large portion of his address of the League of Nations, after which he told the audience that if they were in favor of it, to vote for it, and if not, to vote for the Republican ticket.

He reviewed the work of the League of Nations from the very time that President Wilson left this country, in company with Mrs. Wilson and a score of servants, to go to Europe for the purpose of making a treaty with Germany, and returned with the League of Nations, not a treaty of peace.

He declared that the present administration had a national foreign policy, that was far from the thoughts of the founders of this country, and that the League of Nations would throw the United States into all disputes in foreign lands, which was not the thought of the founders of this country. The drafters of the constitution of the United States did not want any entangling alliances with other nations, but wanted a republic free from the dictates of foreign tongues, declared Governor Morrow.

"The League of Nations, if accepted by the United States," continued Gov. Morrow, "compels us to send armed forces and money into foreign lands where there is a continual turmoil of grief, strife and confusion; that we must protect and help settle territorial boundaries of some 29 countries in which we don't have the slightest interest."

"The countries of Europe were only recently called in to settle the territorial boundaries of Haijaz and Jugo-Slavo. Do you know where they are located? If you do it is more than I do, but the League would call upon the United States to help settle those questions, of which we know nothing about and care much less."

The democrats had their inning at the Rush county chautauqua today, after the republicans were given an opportunity to present their cause Friday afternoon. The principal address was made by Henry N. Spaan of Indianapolis, a prominent attorney and candidate for congress from the seventh Indiana district. He was accompanied here by Dr. C. B. McCullough of Vincennes, candidate for governor, who was also expected to make a short talk.

The chautauqua will close Sunday after eight days of uniform crowds which have not been equaled, it is believed in the sixteen years history of the assembly here. There have been larger crowds in past years, but chautauqua officials are of the opinion that the attendance never held up as it has this year. This is believed due to the fact that more season tickets were out this year than ever before.

A very fine program will be offered for the closing day and will undoubtedly be a fitting farewell for the 1920 assembly. Roy L. Smith, who speaks Sunday afternoon at three o'clock, has few equals as a rapid-fire talker who says things, and that he is well equipped for chautauqua work is demonstrated

MRS. ISAAC HILL OF CARTHAGE IS DEAD

Expires at Home of Her Daughter in Connersville at The Age of 83 Years

FUNERAL TO BE HELD SUNDAY

Mrs. Isaac Hill, age eighty-three years, of Carthage, died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. W. J. Porter, in Connersville Friday afternoon at three-thirty o'clock and the body was removed to the home of the deceased's grand daughter, Mrs. E. D. Lewis, in Carthage, yesterday evening.

Mrs. Hill has been in failing health for several years. Last December she suffered a light stroke and her decline after that was more rapid. Mrs. Hill went to Connersville last March for a visit and her condition grew so serious that she was not able to return home.

Mrs. Hill was born at Salem, Ind., moved to Carthage when 19 years of age and lived there the remainder of her life. Her husband died on Thanksgiving day in 1916 and in October of the same year Mr. and Mrs. Hill celebrated their sixty-first wedding anniversary.

In addition to the one daughter, she was survived by two brothers, John and Frank Winslow of Kansas, and seven grandchildren, Mrs. Leonard Clark and Lowell Henley of this city, Mrs. Lewis, Jean Porter of Connersville, Jay Watkins of Reading, Pa., Garr Watkins of Akron, O., and Carl Watkins of Bellefontaine, O. The funeral will be held at the Carthage M. E. church Sunday afternoon at three o'clock, conducted by Dr. McFall of Connersville, and interment will take place in Riverside cemetery near Carthage.

CONTROL OF HESSIAN FLY

The Hessian fly attacks wheat, barley, and rye, wheat being the preferred food plant. It does not develop freely in rye, and has never been found in oats.

When the Hessian fly has once become established in a crop of wheat, there being no remedy that will save it, all efforts should be made to protect the next year's crop. Any practice which will reduce the number of flies that emerge in the fall, such as the plowing under of infested stubble in summer or early fall, should be adopted. If volunteer wheat starts, it must be killed by disking or otherwise harrowing before a brood of fly has had time to develop in it. Prepare a good seed bed, use good seed, and make sure that the soil is sufficiently fertile to furnish all the proper nourishment that the young wheat plants can use. Last and most important, postpone sowing until the safe date. By this means, the young wheat plants are protected from infestation by the flies of the main fall brood, which have already issued and laid their eggs by this time.

In the above recommendations it should be remembered that farmers must co-operate in this matter. A single field of early sown wheat will often furnish enough flies to infest an entire locality the following spring. Late sown wheat may be more susceptible to winter-kill, but if the recommendations as to the preparation of seed bed, good seed, and soil fertility, are followed, this risk will be reduced to a minimum; while in years when the Hessian fly is abundant, early sown wheat is practically certain to be seriously injured or a total loss as far too many farmers can testify from their experience during the past season. However, it has been found that the date for sowing wheat for the maximum yield and quality, regardless of fly comes very near to the recommended safe dates. It seems therefore advisable, in order to secure an optimum yield year after year in Indiana, to postpone sowing wheat until the safe date, but to have everything in readiness to sow as soon after this date as possible.

It is realized that sowing dates sufficiently late to be absolutely fly-free would, in some cases, be the cause of considerable winter killing. Having given this fact due consideration, the adjusted dates here indicated are the best sowing dates to avoid both Hessian fly and winter killing. Some seasons of heavy infestations when climatic conditions are abnormal, these dates will be too early. The fall of 1919 was just such a season. In such cases in the future, provision has been made to determine the number of days the fly is expected to be a menace after the regular dates as indicated, and this information will be given out by the Station far enough in advance for the farmers in every locality affected, to make the changes in their plans necessary in order to protect their crop.

The dates as given by the accompanying map are the best that it has been possible to secure in years of investigation. They have been determined by actual sowings at three to five-day intervals during September and October for a series of years in various localities in the state. Drought or abnormal conditions of temperature cause the date to vary somewhat from year to year. Unusually dry weather through July and August will retard the appearance of the adult flies in the field and make the corresponding safe date a few days later. Drenching rains may sweep across narrow strips of country, causing the fly to emerge in advance of those from the dry areas on either side. Such occurrences cannot be foretold, and only the farmer in each section can take advantage of them. The farmer should act on the information here given, in accordance with his own best judgment, or that of the most successful wheat grower in his own immediate section of the country. In case of doubt, write to your Experiment Station for advice.

HEAR PETITION FOR DRAIN

County Board of Commissioners in Session Today

The county board of commissioners were in session this afternoon for the purpose of hearing the Geo. B. Moore, Jr., petition for improvements in a drain, as petitioned for a few weeks ago. The drain in question, is commonly known as Hodges Branch, flowing through the northwestern part of the city diagonally, and affects over 100 property owners. The petition calls for certain improvements in the ditch, requesting that it be widened and deepened in order to carry away the surplus of water during a rainy season. Back waters from the ditch frequently causes a flood in that section of the city. The commissioners will probably appoint three ditch commissioners to act as reviewers and together with Frank Catt, county surveyor, a report will be made, so that action can be taken in the matter. It is understood that there were no remonstrances for the petition.

IN MEMORIAM

In loving remembrance of Dorothy May Smith, who died one year ago Aug. 14, 1919.

Sad is the memory of one year ago today.

When you left us all in sorrow,
For that home so far away.

You bade no one a last farewell.
You could say good-bye to none.

A dear young heart had ceased to beat.

Before we knew that you had gone
We often sit and think of you.

When we are all alone,
For memory is the only thing

That grief can call its own.
We miss you more and more each day.

As days and weeks roll by—
But, Oh, we live in hope of meeting.

In that heavenly home on high.

MORE INCREASE IN EXPRESS IS SOUGHT

Application For Higher Rates to Reach Interstate Commission
Soon, it is Expected

WAGE ADVANCE IS THE CAUSE

Recent Award of $43,000,000 Not Taken Into Consideration in The Decision

Washington, August 14—Application will be made soon to the interstate commerce commission, it was believed today, by the American Railway Express Company to increase express rates sufficiently to absorb the additional wages recently awarded its employees. The new demand, it was said, will be for an increase in rates in addition to that of 12½ per cent authorized yesterday by the commission.

The commission's award yesterday, which it is unofficially estimated, will add $35,000,000 to the annual income of the company, did not take into consideration the railroad labor board's award of the increased wages, approximating $43,000,000, to express company employees.

The rate increase authorized yesterday was only about one-half of the amount sought, the express company having requested authority to advance rates 25.16 per cent.

Rates on milk and cream, under the commission's decision, are further increased to correspond with the advance of 20 per cent for the transportation of such commodities granted the railroads, except where there are no competing railroads between the affected points. In the latter case an advance of 12½ per cent, is authorized.

In touching on the fact that the express company had received only about one-half of the increase asked, the commission expressed the opinion that the full amount awarded should be retained by the express company itself and that none of it should go to the railroad carriers.

The commission suggested that the present express company contracts with the railroads, under which 50.25 per cent of its gross earnings go to the roads for the carrier service, should be modified to this purpose.

Permission was granted the company to make new rates effective on one day's notice by filing blanket schedules with the commission, but the company is required to reissue its tariffs within ninety days of the effective date in the regular manner.

Nothing in the decision, the commission said, is to be taken as forecasting the determination of the application of the Adams, American, Southern and Wells Fargo companies for a continuance of their consolidation into the American Railway Express Company or on the proposed new contract between the consolidated company and the railroads which has been submitted to the commission for its approval.

Action on applications for higher rates filed with the shipping board by interstate water carriers under its jurisdiction will be postponed until after a hearing on the subject August 18, the board announced.

All such applications will be consolidated and shippers and other interested persons will be heard on the proposed advances, request for which followed the granting of substantial increase by the interstate commerce commission to water carriers under its supervision.

JAPS FRAME LAND LAW

Bill Provides Ownership by Foreigners of Land in Japan

(By United Press.)

Tokyo, (By Mail)—A particularly interesting bill which is likely to be introduced in the session of the Diet which has just opened, is that providing for ownership by foreigners of land in Japan, which may act as counter-move to the proposed anti-Japanese land legislation in California. As a matter of fact, such a bill passed the Diet some ten years ago, but as it was never promulgated it has remained a dead letter.

"The feature of the new law," said the Minister of Justice, Mr. Okuma, "lies in the reciprocal feature underlying it. It is a marked improvement on the old law, recognizing land ownership by foreigners, provided Japanese are granted reciprocal rights in their respective countries. Furthermore, this new law will be applicable to all parts of Japan, except Korea and districts having strategic value."

Famous Graveyard Town
May Censor Epitaphs

"Here lies the body of Mary Ann Lowder,
She burst while drinking a seidlitz powder,
Called from the world to her heavenly rest
She should have waited till it effervesced."

Leighton Buzzard, England (By Mail)—Tombstones in the tiny secluded church yards of this old-world place abound with epitaphs like the above, and it is felt that in bygone days the rollicking country yokels buried their best beloved with far too much mirth and levity.

The town clerk of Leighton Buzzard has been asked to confer with the chairman of the burial board with a view to censoring epitaphs. Hitherto the stonemason has carved the tombstones faithfully "according to copy", regardless of spelling and grammar, as evidenced by the following:

"Sacred to the memory of John Wardle and his wife and five children all of who passed away in their infancy."

Others, true, are philosophical without undue emotional display. The following masterpiece is traced on the tombstone of a long-deceased inkeeper:

"Our life is but a vinter's day,
Some only breakfast and away,
Others to dinner stay and are full fed.

The oldest man but sups and goes to bed.

Large is his debt who lingers out the day,

Who goes the soonest has the least to pay."

It is difficult to find a tombstone in Leighton Buzzard with a scriptural epitaph. The old, old grey stones, leaning against each other for support, depict the gamut of human emotions, from the sanctimonious to the burlesque, but none of them have borrowed words of comfort from Matthew, Mark, Luke or John.

However, the town clerk has ordered a new office Bible, the chairman of the burial board is polishing up his scriptural quotations and Leighton Buzzard will have to learn to be orthodox.

League May be Revised

It is now reported that the Versailles treaty of peace may be revised, the European powers realizing that league of nations as insisted on by President Wilson has proven impotent and unworkable. Diplomats feels that nothing can be gained by reciting the mistake made in following Mr. Wilson's ideals which have caused present alarming conditions. The failure to deal with Russia in the Versailles pact, they assert, largely was due to the attention devoted to the idealistic plans of world reform, which have proven impossible. The unreal and academic feature of the Wilson league have been a constant cause of trouble. The consequent neglect to reckon with Russia was a vital mistake. To the credit of the majority members of the United States senate, far removed by distance and design from the peace table let it be said that this fatal omission of Russia from all consideration thereat promptly and forcibly was pointed out in the upper chamber. Senator Knox made specific reference to Russia's position and warned Americans, Russia inevitably would be drawn into war against the league. Senators Borah and Reed of the other side, and others, took the same stand, basing

League of Nation
Is Fading Away
(By William Hoster)

A particular case in point with regard to Wilson's League of Nations, the copyright of which Governor Cox has taken over from President Wilson, is the latest meeting of the League Council at San Sebastian, Spain. It is interesting to note, by the way, that the League has become a moving feast. It flitters ghost-like about Europe, like the disconsolate Wanderer of Eugene Sue's novel, pitching its tent, disclosing its wares lingering for a day, and then moving onward, ever onward into the night.

July 29 the Council of the League of Nations met at San Sebastian. It was an hour of dire peril for the whole world. A crisis had been reached in the war between Russia and Poland, and there was an even chance that all Europe would be engulfed in another bloody struggle with the issue at last joined between Bolshevism and Western Civilization. Of specific moment is the fact that there were not lacking Wilsonian urgings in the United States that this government owed an obligation to Poland which we could not ignore, despite the fact that we had declined to enter the League of Nations. It was a time of all times when the Covenant ought to have functioned for the maintenance of peace.

In this situation the Council of the League of Nations met in San Sebastian—as far removed from the theatre of war-like activities as it was possible to get—and took up the discussion of what?

"Making travelling easier in Europe!"

The quotation is from the Associated Press report of the proceedings of the meeting, which said in cable dispatch from San Sebastian dated July 30:

"The opening session of the Council of the League of Nations began this afternoon. The programme contained but practical questions, such as making travelling easier in Europe."

And another world war threatened!

As it happened the Supreme Council of the Allied Powers took hold of the situation, and the crisis was safely ridden for the time being.

The incident aptly illustrates the futility of the hopes which were rashly built upon the potency of the League of Nations in maintaining the peace; and at the same time affords fresh proof that in a time of national emergency, the practical statesmen of the nations directly concerned, League or no League, will assume control of a situation in which their national prestige and safety are at stake. Well enough to leave to the League of Nations such "practical" questions as "making travelling easier in Europe," if, indeed, the tourist agencies are not able to cope with this international problem; but where war threatens, or national prestige or safety are involved, the spirit of nationality predominates.

CONVINCED BEES CAN BE SAFELY HANDLED

C. O. Yost Was in Charge of Exhibit of a Colony at The Osgood Fair Last Week

RIPLEY A GOOD BEE COUNTY.

Indianapolis, Ind., Aug. 14—Several thousand persons attending the Ripley County fair at Osgood last week who watched C. O. Yost, state apiary inspector for the state department of conservation handle a colony of bees, were convinced that bees can be safely handled and a man who understands his business will not be stung by them.

Mr. Yost was in charge of an exhibit the division of entomology made at the fair, and the feature of the display which consisted of 100 mounts and charts illustrative of the most important insects that prey on Hoosier cereal and fruit crops, was the scientific handling of bees.

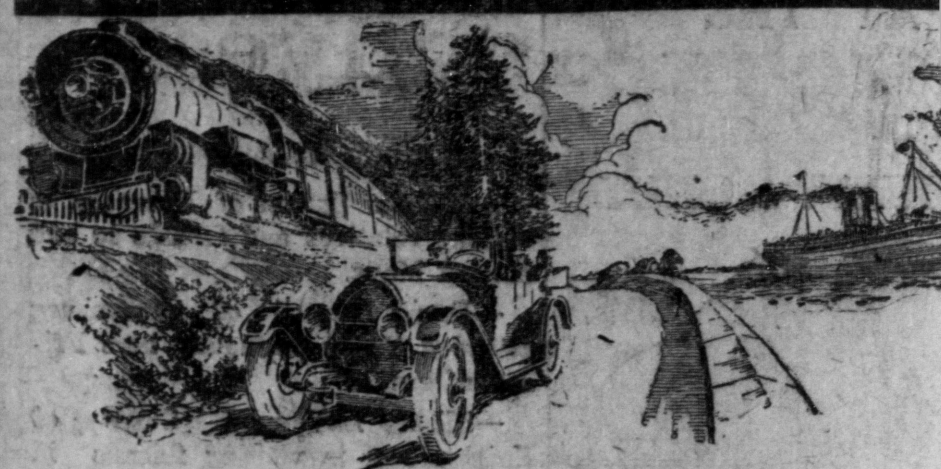

A colony of pure-bred Italian bees, enclosed in a wire-protected cage was mounted on a five foot platform and in this cage with his sleeves rolled high and his head and face unprotected by a net, Yost demonstrated every phase of scientific bee culture. To force home his point that bees are responsive to the proper kind of treatment and are harmless, Yost rolled a pint of them into a ball and buried his face and poured them over his head and neck and emerged from the cage unhurt.

Ripley county has more than 200 beekeepers and the industry is rapidly growing in favor in that county. According to Frank N. Wallace, state entomologist, there are 25,000 beekeepers in Indiana who own approximately 225,000 colonies. He expects the Indiana honey crop this season to go in excess of 5 million pounds. The product is now selling from 30 to 50 cents a pound.

HOW MUCH DOES IT COST TO BE A SAINT
Question is Hard to Answer as Cost of Canonization is Difficult to Figure in Details
PRICE IS DOWN HOWEVER.

Monastic Orders that Begged Scores of Years in Order to Defray Expenses of Becoming a Saint

By CAMELLO CIANFARRA
(U. P. Staff Correspondent.)
Rome, July 22 (By Mail)—How much does it cost to become a saint?
"The question is hard to answer," said a prelate formerly connected with the Vatican exchequer, "as the cost of a canonization is the most difficult to figure in details, first because the items large and small to be taken into account are many; and second, because the cost of qualifying for a place on the altars of the Catholic church varies from saint to saint, and is chiefly based on the financial resources and wealth of the saint's relatives, or those of the religious order demanding his canonization."
"Today," the prelate continued, "the expenses connected with a canonization are not as heavy as they used to be. In the fourth, fifth and sixth centuries, the congregation of rites which has charge of the work, used to render bills that ran into millions."
"As is known, in past centuries the different monastic orders vied with one another in presenting to the church candidates for beatification first and canonization afterwards. The importance, prestige and renown of an order was based not on the services it rendered to the church or to mankind, but on the number of saints it had given to the church. The same was true for communities of Catholic countries. The canonization of a saint greatly increased the fame of his native town or city, and often gave his birth place a world-wide reputation."
"Padua, for instance, which has neither an artistic nor exceptionally historical claim to fame, is a household word because she was the cradle of St. Anthony, and because within her walls the saint used to perform thirteen miracles a day, and that for many years."
"According to documents existing in the archives of the Vatican, there are monastic orders that begged for scores of years in order to defray the expenses of a canonization. The small city of Paola, the birth place of St. Francis, went nearly bankrupt to raise her son to the honors of the altar. The present made to the then Pontiff Leo X, the munificent patron of arts of the Renaissance, alone were valued at $70,000."
"Benedict XIV, in his effort to democratize the church, and give the poor candidates a chance, greatly reduced the expenses but low as they are now, they still average from $40,000 to $50,000."
"The canonization of Jean d'Arch has cost considerably more. The life of the saint presented to the Pope cost 15,000 francs, and her portraits 10,000. What the cost is of the other oil portraits which had to be presented to the cardinal proposing the canonization, to the auditor, the secretary of the congregation of rites and the saint's lawyers, is not known. The price of the papal bull is nearly $700; the presents to those participating in the various ceremonies, are valued at $5,000, while the personnel of St. Peter's, archpriests, canons and attendants—received nearly $8,000."
"The translation of documents into Latin—and there are thousands of pages of them—cost 8 cents a page, and what the fee was of the medical experts and the several lawyers defending the saint against the attacks of the church prosecutor is not known to the public."
"It is interesting to add," the prelate concluded, "that many who aspired to title of saints went no further than the rank of blessed because either their families or their sponsors failed to raise the necessary funds. This was the case of the Blessed Frederick Borromeo, a cousin of St. Charles, of the well-known noble Milanese family, who went no farther than the beatification because the canonization of St. Charles had cost such a fabulous sum."

PRICES FALL AS SPENDING STOPS
July Saels in London Prove That Production Has Caught up With Demand in Many Essentials
MAY OBTAIN REAL BARGAINS

Britisher Purchasers Took Stand That Forced Storekeepers to Cut Cost to Public

By CHARLES McCANN
(U. P. Staff Correspondent.)
London, July 27 (By Mail)—July "sales" in London prove that production has caught up with demand in a great many essentials.
For four years the July "sales" were mere pretenses. But this year the careful purchaser has been able to obtain real bargains. The storekeepers for some time past have been coming to the realization that they must attract customers. At one time they let their customers feel they were doing them a real favor by serving them at all. Competition was at a standstill and prices continued to soar.
The wild orgy of spending which was indulged in by the new rich is beginning to wane. People are learning the wisdom of doing without those non-essentials which they consider too expensive, and this year the store-keeper has "felt the draught."
In addition, the improved rate of exchange between Great Britain and America, has brought prices down considerably. This is specially noticeable in women's wear. Chinese and Japanese silks are greatly down. Silk stockings have tumbled 30 per cent.
Imported meat is very cheap, and in some parts of London is being ordered at 8 cents a pound.
In Northampton there are warehouses full of boots awaiting purchasers.
Last year women almost went on bended knee to their dressmakers, begging them to accept their orders. This year the dressmakers are doing the soliciting.
Hotel managers everywhere complain that "People are not spending as they did last year." This is noticeable not only among their British patrons but the Americans, too. There is no tendency among the latter to pay "fancy-prices" for anything, and the would-be profiteer is disappointed. His American victim doesn't intend to be a victim at all.
"How much did you say?" he asks. "O, that's far too much. I'll wait until it gets cheaper." And he goes away leaving the chagrined salesman wishing he had asked a fairer price.
The Englishman has resigned himself to the fact that prices of certain commodities are bound to remain higher than in pre-war days. Great increases in miner's wages have permanently raised the price of coal, which in its turn affects the prices of all manufactured articles.
"That," said an Englishman discussing the topic, "seems quite reasonable. After all the miners are getting better living conditions—and they deserve them!"
But on one thing the Englishman has made up his mind. The plain, unadulterated profiteer isn't going to get better living conditions at his expense. When the intending purchaser is confronted with exorbitant prices, he puts his money back into his pocket; with the result that this season's "sales" have produced some real bargains and the position of salesman and purchaser is gradually returning to that of pre-war "Tempter and Tempted."

SMOKE WINGERTER'S FAIR PROMISE CIGAR

SOCIETY

Mrs. Clara Smith entertained with an informal social party yesterday afternoon at her home in North Arthur street. The guests present enjoyed light refreshments at the close of the afternoon.

The Royal Neighbors of America will hold an adjourned meeting Monday night in the Modern Woodman hall. Every neighbor is urged to be present as business of importance is to come before the meeting.

The regular meeting of the Tri Kappa sorority which was to have been held Monday evening with Miss Mary Williams west of the city, has been postponed until Monday evening, August 23. At that time Miss Williams will entertain the members.

The threshing company of the Raleigh vicinity, which has completed threshing for this year, enjoyed a social party last evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Poppon of near Raleigh. The hours were enjoyed with social conversation and music and refreshments of ice cream and cake were enjoyed at a late hour.

Miss Ruth E. Marsh, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Marsh, and Russell V. Hall, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joe O. Hall, both living near Milroy, were quietly married today at noon at the Main Street Christian parsonage by the Rev. L. E. Brown. The young couple are well known near Milroy. Mr. and Mrs. Hall will make their future home in Dayton, Ohio.

Miss Lillian Mullins entertained with a pitch-in supper last evening at her home in North Harrison street honoring her guest, Miss Geneva Grider of Alexandria. The guests were the Misses Jean Sparks, Josephine Scholl, Elizabeth Pierson, Janet Dean, Martha Fanning, and her guest, Anna Bell Coleson of Dallas, Texas, Helen Thomas, Marian Carney and Lavienna Compton.

Mr. and Mrs. John Warfield entertained a number of their friends at their home north of the city Wednesday evening with an informal party. The guests were Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Linville and family, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Meek, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Miller, Mr. and Mrs. Willard Brown, Mr. and Mrs. Jim Warfield, Mr. and Mrs. Lot Powell, Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Ward, and the Misses Opal Linville, Florence Warfield, Mildred Powell, Allene Warfield, Bertha Ward, Ellen Johnson and Forrest Moore, Bill Mansfield, Donald Ward, Russell Powell, Hubert Lewark. The evening was enjoyed with music and dancing. Refreshments were served at a late hour.

DEMOCRATS HAVE AN INNING TODAY

by his rapid rise in the ministry. Although only thirty-three years old he holds a pastorate in Minneapolis which is generally given to men more mature and of larger experience.

The music Sunday also will meet the standard already set this year by the entertainers. It is said the Garner Jubilee company is the only group of colored people of the kind in the United States, every member of which is a college or university graduate. They are cultured and refined and offer delightful programs, which include many of the old southern melodies that only the people of their race know how to sing well. They will give a complete concert Sunday night.

The platform manager has said a lot of complimentary things about the Crawford Adams company, which was on the program for the prelude this afternoon and a full concert tonight. For this reason, chautauqua patrons were expecting great things of this organization.

The Davies Light Opera company, which had a splendid reputation here, the attendance last night being evidence enough of that, did not disappoint anyone at the two performances Friday. The prelude in the afternoon only created a desire on the part of chautauqua-goers for more, and last night every seat in the coliseum was taken and many people stood up during the whole performance.

The company presented "The Beggar Prince," a light opera, last night, bringing in much good comedy and plenty of tuneful music. Harry Davies, the comedian, kept the audience laughing most of the time he was on.

TO PLAY AT ANDERSONVILLE

The Falmouth base ball team will play the Andersonville team Sunday afternoon on the Andersonville diamonds. A good crowd is anticipated

TOURISTS IN AWE AT DEVASTATION

Jean Rogier Traveled With American Tourists to Learn What Effect Sight of Battlefields Would Have

NO EXHUBERANCE OF GESTURE

Their Silence Translated Their Emotions and Spoke Loudly Their Most Vehement Cries

Paris, July 24 (By Mail)—Here is the impression that the first American after-the-war tourists—especially the battlefield tourists—is making on the French.

Jean Rogier, leading French writer, to learn just what effect the sight of the French battlefields and devastated regions might make on Americans, seeing them for the first time, made a fourday trip with American tourists to Chalons, Saint Mihiel, Verdun, the Argonne, Champagne, Reims and Soissons.

"During those four days," Rogier declared to the United Press, "I lived with them, I watched their gestures, I studied their attitudes, I lay in waiting for their looks and glances, I observed their words, and I think I read their hearts."

"These Americans, especially the older ones, were very gay and their gayety, rather boyish, if not childish at times, first grated on me and then shocked me. I would preferred to meet them grave and already prepared for the sorrowful proof to which they were to be subjected."

"But suddenly amongst the very first ruins, this gayety died and seemed to bury itself in the stones of the overthrown villages. They no longer laughed and no longer joked."

"The frightful image of the war began to appear. It was there before their eyes and no longer were they able to turn their eyes away."

"They looked with frightened glances at the dismembered houses, at the demolished church towers, at the ruined churches, at the torn and twisted iron work of former factories, at the riddled walls and all of the hideous skeletons of the war which passed along at the side of their automobiles like black skeletons."

"With extended arms the American tourists pointed out in the distance huge red spots that either stood out against the green verdure of hills or that reddened the grass of the prairies."

"Burned—burned—a village burned—Oh! Oh! Oh!"

"Their lips never ceased to repeat this trembling lamentation in tones that intermixed their pity, their sorrow, their indignation and their anger."

"There are people whose sensibilities are suddenly aroused at moments like the opening and shutting of doors and there are others where the sensibilities remain like a silent and vigilant servant."

"With these Americans there was no exhuberance of gesture, no fringes of words, no extravagance of expression. It was only on their face and in their eyes that I could read their impressions and see the souls that reflected. Their silence translated their emotions and spoke more loudly than as though they had uttered the most vehement cries."

"As yet the thought of death had not been borne in to them. It only struck them as they stood before Belleau Wood and Romagne where 27,000 graves lie dug in the shade of the trees."

MAN TAKES EXAMINATION

Jesse Stevens Only Applicant For New Salem Postoffice

The examination was held here today for the civil service appointment of a postmaster for the town of New Salem, and only one applicant, Jesse Stevens, took the examination. The examination was ordered by the Civil service commission, following the resignation of G. W. Higgins, who has held the office there for several years. The vacancy exists after September 30.

The examination was held in the local postoffice under the supervision of Clarence Cross, who is in charge of civil service examinations for this county. A few weeks ago a similar examination was held for the Milroy postoffice, at which time only one person applied, it being a woman in that case. Mr. Stevens is a barber of New Salem, and formerly lived in this city.

GOV. GOODRICH TO ATTEND MEETING

Invitations Issued For Visitors' Meeting at Clark County State Forest Reserve Aug. 19

FOREST HAS 2,000 ACRES

Various Gun Clubs Prepare to Attend and Inspect The Reserve as a Game Preserve

Indianapolis, Ind., Aug. 14.—Gov. James P. Goodrich will attend visitors' day meeting at the Clark County State Forest Reserve near Henryville on Aug. 19 and appear on the program for a short address. This announcement was made today by Richard Lieber, director of the state department of conservation, who recently issued an invitation for everyone in the state who could to attend this meeting.

Invitations have been sent to Mrs. E. C. Rumpfer, president of the Indiana Federation of Clubs, and Miss Vida Newsom of Columbus, Republican county woman chairman for Bartholomew, and to every candidate on the Democratic and Republican state tickets. A number have assured their presence and others tentatively agree to attend. Mrs. Rumpfer and Miss Newsom have been asked to make short talks. Sen. James E. Watson who addresses a meeting at Dupont on August 18, will probably attend and it is very likely that Thomas Taggart, Democratic candidate to the U. S. Senate, will be present.

Members of the various gun clubs of the state are preparing to attend and inspect the state forest reserve as a game preserve, the object of their visit being to study the possibilities of establishing game preserves throughout Indiana.

The Clark County forest contains 2,000 acres and was purchased in 1903. At this time the reserve consisted of 17 farms and contained practically no wild game. Since the purchase, hunting has been prohibited and today the woods is one big sanctuary for opossum, skunk, raccoon. Rabbits are so numerous and each year have been doing so much damage to the smaller trees that the reserve officials find it necessary to wrap many of the fruit and ornamental trees to prevent girdling. This fall the state plans to permit a public hunt at which time sportsmen from over the state will be invited to assist in reducing the rabbit pest.

Whether the sportsmen at this meeting will take active steps toward purchasing game preserves, is a question likely to be raised. However, it is certain they will heartily endorse a movement intended to acquire more state forests.

It is known that the game from state forests in other states yield a good income, and the idea is to make the same project profitable in Indiana. Pelts from the fur-bearers in the Clark County forest reserve should command a very handsome figure.

the side, overturning it. The view at the intersection was obstructed on all sides by corn fields, and is considered as a dangerous crossing by people living in that vicinity.

Dr. Schank advised that the injured people remain at the Arnold residence, because of the seriousness of their injuries. Mr. Palsgrove was said to be in a serious condition last night and it may take several days for each of them to pass the crisis.

Mr. Palsgrove is known here, being secretary of the Shelbyville Rotary Club and also secretary of the Chamber of Commerce of that city.

CONVENTION DATES SET

Evansville, Ind., Aug. 14.—The annual convention of the Indiana Association of Park Departments will be held in Evansville September 13 and 14, the dates being fixed at a meeting of Gilmore Haynie, state president and Walter F. Wunderlich, state secretary and treasurer, with the local park commissioners late Friday. The convention last year was held at South Bend.

3,000 AT CAMP MEETING

Alexandria, Ind., August 14.—The opening service of the fifteenth annual camp meeting of the Indiana Holiness Association at Benjah Park last night was attended by 3,000 persons. The Rev. Joseph Smith of Redlands, Cal., and the Rev. Will Huff were the speakers. A chorus choir of 200 has been organized for the ten-day meeting.

21 BELGIANS TO STUDY IN U.S.

Exchange of Students Under Hoover Foundation Operative This Fall —17 go From America

SET ASIDE 90 MILLION FRANCS

Plan Presented to Belgian Government and Gifts Accepted by Premier Delacroix

By R. H. SHEFFIELD (U. S. Staff Correspondent.)

Brussels, July 31 (By Mail).—Two Belgian students have already embarked for America to enter the University of California, to take advantage of the exchange of students plan contained in the new civic charter of the Hoover University Foundation. Nineteen other students will leave Antwerp September 1 to enter other American universities.

Other schools drawing students follows: Yale, Harvard, Princeton, Stanford, Massachusetts Tech, Columbia, Cornell, Chicago, Pennsylvania and Johns Hopkins. The schools they will go from are 6 from Brussels, 8 from Louvain, 4 from Liege, 2 from Ghent and one from Mons.

Seventeen American youths will enter Belgian universities in accordance with the terms of the exchange plan. Their names have not yet been made public.

The Hoover Foundation is the outcome of what started out as the Committee for the Relief of Belgium at the outbreak of the war in Europe. It was established as a private enterprise by Herbert Hoover whom Belgians still call blessed. When the committee's task of relieving sufferings was completed a sufficient balance was left in the treasurer's hands to reimburse the Belgian government for the five hundred million francs it had contributed, but also there was a sum of between 150 and 160 millions of francs which the committee was free to do with as it saw fit.

In its solicitude for Belgium's youth, the money was set aside for high education. After consultation with officials of the four Belgian universities and the Mons School of Mines, it was decided to set aside 90 million francs for development of those schools and 70 millions to be used as a foundation to make money advances to worthy Belgian students supplying them with the wherewithal to complete higher studies. A plan for exchange of students with the largest universities of the United States was also included in the foundation.

The plan was presented to the Belgian government and the gifts accepted with gratitude by Premier Delacroix. A bill was later framed for "civil personification" or incorporation of the foundation to empower it to operate under Belgian statutes.

the "leaderless" legislature. He also spoke of the subservience of the legislature to "three or four men who cracked the whip and they jumped through."

The two candidates were accompanied here by Mr. Trabue, George DeHority of Elwood, democratic candidate for treasurer of state, and Charles R. Hughes of Peru, candidate for auditor of state.

Included among those entertained at lunch were Mrs. Sam Innis and Mrs. Winnifred Dill. Other guests were John Wallace, democratic county chairman, Gates Ketchum, Frank J. Hall, John D. Megee, Douglas Morris, J. T. Arbuckle and others.

Odessa to attack the Bolsheviks.

Arrangements were made at Warsaw today, according to a dispatch from the foreign office today, for Poland and Wrangel to cooperate to the fullest extent against the Bolsheviks. It was reported that Wrangel had established headquarters at Warsaw.

French strategists do not believe that a "last ditch" defense of Warsaw was necessary.

General Weyand, French advisor in Poland, refused to take command of the armies because he differed with Marshal Pilsudski, who insisted that the capital be held to the last.

The diplomatic split between France and Britain over Russia is believed to be wavering today by the French note to America.

and we are over here. We must take "Those countries are over there, care of our own difficulties first, last and always," continued Governor Morrow.

He emphasized the egotistical manner in which Woodrow Wilson had conducted, or had attempted to conduct the affairs of this country, running as far as he was possible, a one man government. He pointed out the dismissals and resignations of his appointed officers from their offices, because they were unable to work in harmony with each other.

When he returned from Versailles with the League of Nations, he presented it to the congress as being "his" league, and that it must be accepted, or the heart of the world would be broken. The league was written by a man from South Africa declared Governor Morrow, and not a single word was put in the league of an American—yet it was Woodrow Wilson's league.

Governor Morrow asserted that first test for the League of Nations had proven a failure, and cited the present situation in Poland, which he asserted was over territorial limitations. "France tells England that she is going to send artillery and airplanes into Poland, but England tells France that she will not, and now two European countries are quarreling, undecided what to do," continued Governor Morrow.

And speaking further he said, "At the present time in Europe there are ten wars raging, in which there are 4,000,000 men involved in fighting, and we, the United States, are asked to pitch into the midst of it, to take part in a fight at which we have no issue at stake."

"But if the United States were now a part of the League of Nations, and the Polish question would arise, the league would take a vote, France and England would both say 'let the United States do the job,' and because of our sacred obligation as a member of the alliance, we would either be compelled to send troops and money, or else be pointed out as having broken faith with the other countries."

Governor Morrow devoted a considerable portion of his time to an appeal of the business men, asking that they give the business administration of the Wilson term, a good going over, and see if they would like to have their own business managed by such people.

He cited the railroad administration, and during the 26 months that the government had control of them, it cost the people of the United States, $1,370,000,000 a greater portion of which was paid by the business man.

The taking over of the telegraph and telephone lines by the government cost $14,000,000.

He appealed to the women, and explained the sugar deal, and why the price had been as high as 35 cents a pound. It was the fault of the sugar board, declared Governor Morrow, a board representing the business end of the government.

Cuban refiners offered in September, 1919 the entire output to the United States for 6½ cents a pound, which would have retailed for ten and eleven cents, but the board wouldn't buy, and Great Britain and other countries got the sugar, and what was left in the United States was boosted to high prices, because they knew that it could be obtained.

"The sugar deal, because President wouldn't permit the board buying at 6½ cents a pound," said Gov. Morrow, "cost the people of the United States, $1,444,000,000, or for every family of five persons it cost $72 more than was necessary."

Continuing on the business end of the government, he told about the surplus war materials and food that was purchased which almost had to be given away. He told of selling 5,000,000 pair of shoes in France, while this country was going almost barefooted, the shoes being sold there for 12½ cents on the dollar value, with ten years in which to pay for them.

"The government expended one billion dollars for airplanes for the recent war, and when the Armistice was signed, we did not have a single battle plane in France, and all that we did have was 94 observation planes, a vast amount of money wasted with no results," said Gov. Morrow.

He told about buying 900,000 saddles and the same number of bridles and blankets for horses, while the United States government had only 300,000 horses to supply. For these same 300,000 horses, he declared that the government bought 190,000 branding irons.

Five months after the signing of the armistice the United States shipped to France 25,000 automobiles for use in carrying on the war, the governor asserted. These machines were sold in France for 15 cents on the dollar value of the machines, "and many of us poor souls over here wishing that we had an automobile."

The democratic administration also permitted the manufacture of heavy artillery in this country for war use, six months after the signing of the armistice, and all this waste must be paid by the people," he asked. "Is there now reason why taxes are high?" asked Governor Morrow.

"People are always anxious to know what the Republicans will do, but I want to tell you, that the Republican Congress so far has saved you two billion dollars. The appropriation list was gone over carefully, and they decided to cut out some of the extravagances," he asserted, "and for the first time for four years, the income is now exceeding the amount that is being paid out by the country."

Governor Morrow paid a tribute to Senator Watson and Senator Harding, and urged that with these men and the entire Republican ticket sanity could be restored in this country.

HOGS AND CATTLE IN STATE SHOW DECREASE

Statistics Prepared Show That Sheep Have Increased in Number Since March 31

TOWNSHIPS SUPPLY THE DATA

The live stock report for the quarter ending June 30 as made by the Indiana Federation of Farmers' Associations and Geo. C. Bryant, statistician for the U. S. Department of Agriculture, shows that the numbers of cattle and hogs being prepared for the market in Indiana have materially decreased since March 31, but that sheep have increased somewhat. It is estimated that here were 1,612,000 cattle of all kinds on farms June 30, compared with 1,634,000 on hand March 31, or a decrease of 1.6 percent. The females for breeding purpose decreased from 836,000 to 817,000 or 2.3 percent and the stock being prepared for market decreased from 260,000 to 99,000 or 6.2 percent. The estimate for swine of all kinds on June 30 was 6,192,000 compared with 5,611,000 March 31 and is an increase of 10.2 percent. The females for breeding June 30 was 768,000 compared with 846,000 on March 31 or a decrease of 9.2 percent, while the number being prepared for market decreased from 2,365,000 to 1,656,000 or 30 percent during the quarter. Sheep increased somewhat for all classes; being 1,216,000 on June 30 and 1,058,000 on March 31 which is an increase of 14.9 percent. Females for breeding increased from 550,000 to 585,000 or 6.4 percent and those being prepared for market increased from 52,000 to 144,000 or 177 percent, but considering the meat value of the various classes of animals the increase in the number of sheep does not amount to a great deal.

Amusements

"Hairpins" at the Princes Tonight

Powder puffs and rouge—those delightful aids to feminine conquest meant nothing in the young life of Muriel Rossmore. It didn't matter much to her whether her hair was knotted or streaming down on her shoulders in shapless array. She was just an old-fashioned and ultra-domestic housewife.

So that's why her husband, Rex, found pleasure in his associations with his pretty stenographer while Muriel remained at home to combat the high cost of living. But when Muriel discovered her husband's desire for daintiness and pretty clothes, it became quite a different matter. She would show him! And she did.

"Hairpins," Thomas H. Ince's Paramount Arteract photoplay starring Enid Bennett, a penetrating story of domestic life written by C. Gardner Sullivan, will be shown at the Princess theater tonight only. Miss Bennett has never had a more appealing role than that which she portrays in this delightful picture, while Matt Moore, in the role of Mr. Rossmore, gives an excellent characterization of the discontented husband.

Hayakawa at Mystic Monday

One of the most absorbing and thrilling stories ever written, "The Illustrious Prince," from the pen of the brilliant E. Phillips Oppenheim, is utilized by Sessue Hayakawa, the Japanese star, as a screen drama, will be shown at the Mystic Monday.

The story is that of a Japanese Prince who trailed to London the cosmopolitan rone and adventurer who had brought disgrace to the Prince's father. Prince Maiyo arrives at the home of the Duke of Devenham, his dearest friend, in time to circumvent the adventurer in his attempts to dishonor the wife of the Duke. When the cosmopolitan rone is found murdered, suspicion points to the Prince as the murderer. The solution of the mystery and the confession of the real criminal, provide a series of intensely dramatic episodes of a highly-colored and sensational character.

The story moves at a fast tempo throughout, interest never lags, while the sumptuous settings and striking light effects set a new standard for excellent and artistry.

THE MARK ON QUALITY LUMBER

Garden Beauty Most Anyone Can Afford

Look about as you walk or drive through a residential district and note the attractive places. It isn't the "finest" homes by any means that catch your eye. More often it is the well kept yard, the shrubbery, the trimmed trees and flower beds.

And then when you see in combination with these, a neat fence, an arbor, a pergola and a bird house—you exclaim: "What a picture."

The wonder of it is that more folks don't have these tasty little garden features. There's nothing cooler and better looking. And the cost! You'll be surprised how reasonable it is.

We'll take just as much interest in supplying you with the lumber for these little improvements as if you were buying materials for a house. We can make some interesting suggestions.

MILROY ASSEMBLY TO OPEN SUNDAY

First Free Chautauqua Will Begin at Night With Stereopticon Show and Concert

PROVIDED BY LOCAL TALENT.

Program Will Formally Begin Monday Afternoon And Will Continue for Five Days

The first free chautauqua ever held in Milroy will open Sunday evening with a musical program by Mrs. Russell Harton, formerly Miss Leona Thomas, and her orchestra, and the showing of some stereopticon views of scenes in the west, which were obtained by W. M. Bosley of Milroy while he was attending the Shriners' meeting in Portland this summer.

The Rev. W. R. Crady, pastor of the Milroy Christian church, will operate the machine, and Mr. Bosley will explain the views as they are shown. The Rev. R. R. Cross, pastor of the Milroy Methodist church, will be in charge of the devotional exercises.

The formal chautauqua program will begin Monday afternoon and continue for five days. The tent was expected to arrive in Milroy today and was to be erected in time for the meeting Sunday night, in the Me-Corkle pasture.

What is expected to be the big day will be next Wednesday, when the band comes. The Neapolitans will give a concert both afternoon and evening.

The junior work is always a big feature of the Milroy chautauqua and the leaders—Mrs. C. S. Houghland and Miss Emma Terhune—are now at work organizing the children.

The children will give a "Mother Goose Party" and athletic stunts on the afternoon of the first day, which is next Friday.

A resume of the program follows: Sunday evening—Exercises by local talent.

Monday evening—Concert and lecture by the Brewer entertainers.

Monday evening—Concert, and lecture by Dr. J. Franklin Babb of Boston.

Tuesday afternoon—Concert by Charles Fredrick Bonawitz, Italian baritone, and lecture "Danger Signals on the Road to Health", by Edna Eugenia Lowe.

Tuesday evening—Concert; lecture, "Awake, Ye Dry Bones", by J. C. Herbsman, humorist.

Wednesday afternoon and evening—Band concert.

Thursday afternoon—The Leiter grand opera company; lecture, "The Invisible Frontier", by Capt. Stanley Nelson Dancy, of the Canadian army.

Thursday evening—Concert.

Friday afternoon—Junior program concert by Swiss singers and players.

Friday evening—Concert; lecture, "What's Wrong with the World," by J. Adam Bede.

PUT 126,700 FISH IN
65 STREAMS IN JULY

Every Effort Being Made by Conservation Department to Make Ind. Lakes Known as Bass Waters

MR. BERG MAKES A REPORT.

Indianapolis, Ind., Aug. 14—A total of 126,700 yellow perch, large-mouthed black bass and blue gill baby fish were planted in 65 streams and lakes in twenty-two counties in Indiana during the month of July according to announcement today by George Berg, superintendent of hatcheries for the state conservation department. These plantings were from the three northern hatcheries at Bass Lake, Tri-Lakes, and Wawasee Lake. The July plantings consisted of 5,500 yellow perch, 39,000 blue gills, and 82,200 black bass, and the total distribution of the three hatcheries since this season opened several weeks ago is 171,200 baby fish, Mr. Berg's report shows.

Every effort is being made by the conservation department to make Indiana lakes and streams known as bass waters, and now that an efficient warden service is functioning to suppress the fish pirates and others who take fish illegally, department officials express confidence that Indiana in a few years will become widely known amongst tourists as the ideal state for game fishing.

GERMANS FIGHT TO

Socialists Attack Law Forbidding Criminal Operations—Too Many Children Undernourished

TO CONSIDER BILL IN SEPT.

Many Persons And Organizations Back of Movement to Abolish Law Against Operations

By CARL D. GROAT
(U. P. Staff Correspondent.)

Berlin, July 23. (By Mail).—"Every woman ought to have the right of control over her own body. As it is now thousands of women are forced to bring children into the world—undernourished, sickly babies who from the outset are doomed to poverty and ill health, in other words without even a chance of growing up to happy and useful lives."

Laise Zeitz, independent socialist who will make the introductory reichstag speech for the bill cancelling the law against criminal operations, so expressed her reasons for backing this proposal when interviewed by the United Press.

Frau Zeitz is known as one of the most fiery orators in the reichstag and holds no brief for criminal operations per se, but regards the present system as hypocritical and unfair, permitting rich mothers to bring children into the world or have an operation, while poor mothers are punished for either course they take—too many children to take care of or prison for the operation. She pointed out that while the rich are able to get the best treatment and advice and their secret is kept from gossiping mouths, the poor are forced to consult cheap, untrained and so-called women and are often found out if the operation fails.

The bill, which proposes to abolish the famous paragraph 218, will be backed by the independent socialists who believe they will later obtain support of the majority socialists. The first consideration of the bill will probably be in September.

Under paragraph 218, known to every German, the law provides for up to ten years' imprisonment for performance of criminal operations, or for up to five years' imprisonment for attempting to perform one. One case is on record in Berlin where a girl drank a preparation of sugar water thinking to rid herself of a child. She was sent to prison for five years, although her method of attempt was regarded as harmless.

Many prominent persons and organizations are back of the movement to abolish the paragraph. Among them is the League for Mothers, whose chief aim is protect the vast numbers of unwedded mothers in Germany.

State to Receive $110,521.05 From Government to Train Persons Crippled in Industry

A FEDERAL APPROPRIATION.

Indianapolis, Ind. Aug. 14—Plans for using money which the state will receive from the federal appropriation in training persons crippled in industry and otherwise will be laid before the meeting of the state board of education, according to J. G. Collicott, director of vocational training.

"The money will be devoted almost entirely to individual training," said Collicott. "The state will receive $110,521.05 between June 30, 1921 and June 30, 1924 from the government and we will seek a like appropriation from the Indiana Legislature."

Among the schools which will benefit are: Auburn, Columbia City, Crawfordsville, Elkhart, Evansville, Ft. Wayne, Frankfort, Gary, Goshen, Hammond, Indianapolis, Muncie, Seymour, Shelbyville, South Bend, Terre Haute, Warsaw, Vincennes, Whiting, and Princeton.

HULL, ENG.—Having "had a good time in life", T. H. Whiteside invited his family to do the same. In his will he said "It is my earnest desire that my wife, children and friends shall not wear mourning more than seven days after my death. On the eighth day, play the piano for not less than fifteen minutes then go for a walk, or better still, to see something amusing, and start to enjoy life as if I were with you."

TWO PERSONS HURT IN AUTO COLLISION

Mrs. B. T. Smith and James E. Palsgrove of Shelbyville May be Injured Internally

CAR OVERTURNED BY ANOTHER

Accident at Cross Roads West of Gwynneville Obscured by Corn Fields—Were Coming Here

James E. Palsgrove and Mrs. B. T. Smith, both of Shelbyville, were seriously injured last evening about seven o'clock, when an automobile owned and driven by Mr. Palsgrove was struck by a Ford touring car at a cross roads intersection one mile west of Gwynneville. Both of the occupants were enroute to this city to attend the Rush county chautauqua, and especially to hear Mrs. Smith's son, Harry Smith, who is a member of the Davies Light Opera Company.

Palsgrove's automobile was a large touring car and they were intending to take part of the entertainers back to Shelbyville, where they were scheduled for an appearance today at the chautauqua in that city.

The machine was coming east on the Indianapolis road, and when they approached the intersection of another road, a Ford touring car driven and occupied by Shelbyville men, who were returning to their home from Carthage where they are employed, struck the machine broadside, throwing the larger machine upside down into the ditch, almost demolishing it.

Both the injured people were removed to the home of Alfred Arnold, who lived nearby, and Dr. A. G. Shauck of Arlington was summoned. He found that Palsgrove had a crushed chest, with probable internal injuries, and Mrs. Smith had received a bad fracture of the right collar bone and was also probably injured internally.

Mr. Smith, husband of the injured woman, was in Indianapolis and came here last evening to join her and attend the concert, but learned upon his arrival about the accident. He thought it best not to tell his son until after the performance was over, and then both father and son went to the Arnold home.

The occupants in the Ford touring car were not injured nor was the car damaged to a great extent, as they struck the touring car at

WAYNER'S BOND $5,000

Not Expected Man Charged With House Breaking Will Provide It

The bond in the case of Carey Wayner, who is held in jail here on a house breaking charge, was placed today at $5,000, which had not been provided at a late hour. Wayner was put in jail earlier in the week after being caught in Jackson, Mich., by Capt. Neil, a Big Four detective. The house breaking charge is for assisting in the robbery of the Dr. D. H. Dean residence about a year ago, when the Demaree gang was exposed. Wayner was allowed his freedom for turning state's evidence, but certain agreements that he made were not lived up to, it is alleged and he was arrested. It is not expected that he will be able to give bond, and will be held in jail until the September term of court.

Russians Reported Only 25 Miles From City on North—Poles Fight in Last Ditch

(By United Press.)
Moscow, Aug. 14—"Both wings of our armies are continuing the movement encircling Warsaw," the Russian war office announced today.

Paris, Aug. 14—Russian-Polish armistice negotiations began this morning at Minsk, according to a dispatch from Warsaw to the foreign office today. The Polish delegations passed through the front lines this morning and at once started the parley which may result in ending the hostilities between Poland and Russia.

Warsaw, Aug. 14—With the Reds reported only 25 miles from the Warsaw on the north, thousands of people gathered here today and swore to defend the city to the last drop of blood.

The boom of guns could be heard in the distance as the throng gathered here.

Many armed women were in the crowd and soldiers who have been invalidated were going to the front again to resume the fight.

Despite the loyalty to the nation, it was evident that the great mass of people have lost faith in the army leaders and in the government.

Polish Bolsheviks are busy behind the lines and boast that the Red tide is rising. Marshal Pilsudski, national hero, and leader of the armies, is closely guarded for fear of assassination.

$10,000 DAMAGE SUIT FILED TODAY

Maud H. Augur Makes Western Union Defendant as Result of Accident in Indianapolis

STUCK BY A MESSENGER

Says Injuries Due to Being Run Down by Boy Caused Her Great Pain—Account Suit Filed

Maud H. Augur of this city, this morning filed suit against the Western Union Telegraph Company, demanding $10,000 damages for personal injuries received on Feb. 17 of this year, when she alleges that she was permanently injured, when struck by a messenger boy, riding a bicycle at a street intersection in Indianapolis.

The complaint avers that the plaintiff was walking west of the north side of Washington street in Indianapolis on the above date, and when crossing the street at Meridian street, a messenger boy, employed at the office of the Western Union at 21 North Meridian, rode his wheel carelessly into her, knocking her down, and causing her many injuries.

She asserts in the complaint that the messenger boy was an employ of the Western Union, and acting as an agent and employee, she alleges that the company is liable for damages which she asserts befall her.

According to the complaint, she suffered bodily injuries; that it was necessary to have several teeth extracted; that an infection arose in an ear which was painful for weeks, and affected the hearing in the ear; that she suffered a nervous shock and suffered from nervousness and insomnia; that she paid $200 for bills caused by her injuries.

The plaintiff asserts that she has not recovered from the injuries and that they are permanent to a great extent, and because of such, demands judgment in the sum of $10,000.

George Urbach this morning brought suit against Herschell Miller on a complaint on account and to foreclose a mechanics' lien. The charges set forth in the complaint allege that Miller in indebted to Urbach for automobile repairs and supplies and that a lien was taken on his Ford automobile, and because the bill amounting to $21.50 is unpaid, he demands that the lien be foreclosed and the debt paid.

WILL NOT BUILD A CONSOLIDATED SCHOOL

Jackson Township Officers Decide to Postpone it in Belief That Prices Will Come Down

COST MOUNTS TO OVER $100,000

The consolidated school building for Jackson township will not be built this year, according to the decision reached by the advisory board of Jackson township and Alva Newhouse, trustee of the township. The reason assigned for not building, is that the contract prices submitted were thought to be too high, and that building prices are expected to be lower next year.

A few weeks ago the bids were received for the erection of the building, at which time there were three bids for general construction, the highest being $75,000, and in addition to general construction, bids were also submitted for heating, ventilating, plumbing and lighting, which in all would have amounted to $100,000, not including the school ground land which must also be paid for.

Three acres of land have been condemned in Jackson township for the purpose of building, and the deed has been assigned to the township trustees, but the price asked for it was $5,000 which was regarded as too high, and the case will come up for trial in the next term of court in order to determine the valuation of the land. This item was also given as one of the reasons for not allowing the contract.

Democratic Attitude in State Reverse of That in Nation, Candidates Point Out

HERE FOR THE CHAUTAUQUA

Henry N. Spaan and Dr. C. B. McCullough Declare Democrats Feel Certain of Victory

"Nationally we point with pride; in the state we view with alarm."

This in a few words expresses the democratic position in Indiana, according to Dr. G. B. McCullough of Vincennes, candidate for governor, and Henry N. Spaan of Indianapolis, candidate for congress in the seventh district, who arrived here shortly after one o'clock this afternoon to address an audience at three o'clock at the chautauqua.

J. T. Arbuckle was to preside at the chautauqua and Dr. McCullough expected to speak briefly on state issues first, to be followed by a set speech by Mr. Spaan. The two men were accompanied by a few candidates and they, together with a local reception committee, were entertained at the Scanlan house at lunch by Samuel L. Trabue of this city, secretary of the democratic state committee.

"We expect to carry Marion county this fall," declared Mr. Spaan. "The drift is all our way and it is only a question of organization. The democrats are enthusiastic and have no quarrel among themselves, while the republicans are quarreling and disorganized."

"The democrats feel if they don't win in Indiana this year, they may as well move out of the state," he remarked Dr. McCullough. "When we go to a democratic meeting, we find them all on their toes and ready to work, but the republicans are continually complaining about the lack of interest in politics this year."

"Goodrichism has ruined the republican state organization and the senate cabal has ruined the national organization," commented Mr. Spaan. "That's the situation in a nutshell."

Dr. McCullough said that he expected to devote some attention in his speech this afternoon to the usurpation of the government in the state by the executive branch and to the tax law and what he termed

Herman Kennedy, 33, Developed Disease From Exposure While Fighting Clark Fire

WIDOW AND FOUR CHILDREN

Herman Kennedy, 33 years old, expired this morning at six-thirty at his residence in West Sixth street, following a prolonged illness of tuberculosis, developing from exposure while engaged as a city fireman, in the fire that destroyed the Rush County Mills, in the early part of January.

Mr. Kennedy had been employed for almost two years as a fireman, and during the fire in January met with an accident, running a rusty nail in his foot, but he continued to assist in the fighting of the blaze and was finally compelled to seek medical attention, pneumonia developing within a few days, and later tuberculosis.

The deceased is survived by a widow and four children. The funeral will be held some time Monday, the exact hour not being determined upon. Interment will be made in East Hill cemetery.

TO OPEN SAW MILL

Fred Bell and F. W. Lighthook have announced that they will open a saw mill on their farm two miles east of Gings for a limited period. The mill will be started to work up about 35 acres of timber and they will do work for other persons.

ACCUSED OF GRAND LARCENY

Otis Grubbs of Indianapolis Arrested on Charge Preferred Here

Otis Grubbs of Indianapolis, was arrested last night and returned to this city by Will Spivey, acting as deputy sheriff, and placed in jail on a charge of grand larceny, preferred by A. N. Harrold. Grubbs is charged by Harrold as having taken $60 worth of fixtures from the Windsor hotel building, while Grubbs was paupering the interior of the building.

Grubbs, however, denied the accusation, and state that he had had trouble in securing money from Harrold for payment of the work, and had previously filed a lien in order to get his money. His bond was placed at $500, and it was expected that it would be furnished this afternoon.

ADMINISTRATION FALLACIES SHOWN

Gov. Morrow of Kentucky in Chautauqua Address Points to Failure of League

"BACK TO SANITY," APPEAL

Says United States is Asked to Plunge into European Muddle With 10 Wars Raging

Governor Edwin Morrow of Kentucky, in a Republican address yesterday afternoon at the chautauqua, ridiculed the League of Nations, pointed out the fallacies of the Wilson administration and urged that the voters of this community, and especially the women, help get the country "back to sanity," by voting the Republican ticket.

Governor Morrow eloquently outlined the principles of the republican party, and devoting a large portion of his address to the League of Nations, after which he told the audience that if they were in favor of it, to vote for it, and if not, to vote for the Republican ticket.

He reviewed the work of the League of Nations from the very time that President Wilson left this country, in company with Mrs. Wilson and a score of servants, to go to Europe for the purpose of making a treaty with Germany, and returned with the League of Nations, not a treaty of peace.

He declared that the present administration had a national foreign policy, that was far from the thoughts of the founders of this country, and that the League of Nations would throw the United States into all disputes in foreign lands, which was not the thought of the founders of this country. The drafters of the constitution of the United States did not want any entangling alliances with other nations, but wanted a republic free from the dictates of foreign tongues, declared Governor Morrow.

"The League of Nations, if accepted by the United States," continued Gov. Morrow, "compels us to send armed forces and money into foreign lands where there is a continual turmoil of grief, strife and confusion; that we must protect and help settle territorial boundaries of some 29 countries in which we don't have the slightest interest."

"The countries of Europe were only recently called in to settle the territorial boundaries of Haiti and Jugo-Slavo. Do you know where they are located? If you do it is more than I do, but the League would call upon the United States to help settle those questions, of which we know nothing about and care much less."

The democrats had their inning at the Rush county chautauqua today, after the republicans were given an opportunity to present their cause Friday afternoon. The principal address was made by Henry N. Spaan of Indianapolis, a prominent attorney and candidate for congress from the seventh Indiana district. He was accompanied here by Dr. C. B. McCullough of Vincennes, candidate for governor, who was also expected to make a short talk.

The chautauqua will close Sunday after eight days of uniform crowds which have not been equaled, it is believed in the sixteen years history of the assembly here. There have been larger crowds in past years, but chautauqua officials are of the opinion that the attendance never held up as it has this year. This is believed due to the fact that more season tickets were out this year than ever before.

A very fine program will be offered for the closing day and will undoubtedly be a fitting farewell for the 1920 assembly. Roy L. Smith, who speaks Sunday afternoon at three o'clock, has few equals as a rapid-fire talker, who says things and that he is well equipped for chautauqua work is demonstrated.

MRS. ISAAC HILL OF CARTHAGE IS DEAD

Expires at Home of Her Daughter in Connersville at the Age of 83 Years

FUNERAL TO BE HELD SUNDAY

Mrs. Isaac Hill, age eighty-three years, of Carthage, died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. W. J. Porter, in Connersville Friday afternoon at three-thirty o'clock and the body was removed to the home of the deceased's grand daughter, Mrs. E. D. Lewis, in Carthage, yesterday evening.

Mrs. Hill has been in failing health for several years. Last December she suffered a light stroke and decline after that was more rapid. Mrs. Hill went to Connersville in March for a visit and her condition grew so serious that she was not able to return home.

Mrs. Hill was born at Salem, moved to Carthage when 19 years of age and lived there the remainder of her life. Her husband died Thanksgiving day in 1916 and Mrs. Hill celebrated their sixtieth wedding anniversary.

In addition to the one daughter she was survived by two sons, John and Frank Winslow of Connersville and seven grandchildren, Mrs. Clara Clark and Lowell Hester of this city, Mrs. Lewis, Jean, of Connersville, Jay, Watkins, Reed, P. G. Carr, Watkins, Roy, O., and Carl Watkins of Mountaineer, O. The funeral will be held at the Carthage M. E. church Sunday afternoon at three o'clock, conducted by Dr. McFall of Connersville, and musical services by the Carthage quartet.

CONTROL OF HESSIAN FLY

The Hessian fly attacks wheat, barley, and rye, wheat being the preferred food plant. It does not develop freely in rye, and has never been found in oats.

When the Hessian fly has once become established in a crop of wheat, there being no remedy that will save it, all efforts should be made to protect the next year's crop. Any practice which will reduce the number of flies that emerge in the fall, such as the plowing under of infested stubble in summer or early fall, should be adopted. If volunteer wheat starts, it must be killed by disking or otherwise harrowing before a brood of fly has had time to develop in it. Prepare a good seed bed, use good seed, and make sure that the soil is sufficiently fertile to furnish all the proper nourishment that the young wheat plants can use. Last and most important, postpone sowing until the safe date. By this means, the young wheat plants are protected from infestation by the flies of the main fall brood, which have already issued and laid their eggs by this time.

In the above recommendations it should be remembered that farmers must co-operate in this matter. A single field of early sown wheat will often furnish enough flies to infest an entire locality the following spring. Late sown wheat may be more susceptible to winter-kill, but if the recommendations as to the preparation of seed bed, good seed, and soil fertility, are followed, this risk will be reduced to a minimum; while in years when the Hessian fly is abundant, early sown wheat is particularly certain to be seriously injured by a total loss as far too many farmers can testify from their experience during the past season. However, it has been found that the date for sowing wheat for the maximum yield and quality, regardless of fly homes very near to the recommended safe dates. It seems therefore advisable in order to secure an optimum yield year after year in Indiana to postpone sowing wheat until the safe date, but to have every thing in readiness to sow as soon after this date as possible.

It is realized that sowing wheat under conditions that will cause the fly to be a serious pest is a cause of considerable winter killing. Having given this fact due consideration, the suggested dates have been indicated as the best sowing dates for Indiana. It is hoped that the Hessian fly will not be a serious pest in 1921, but if it is, the above recommendations will be of great value to the farmer.

expected to be a menace after the regular dates as indicated, and this information will be given out by the Station far enough in advance for the farmers in every locality affected, to make the changes in their plans necessary in order to protect their crop.

The dates as given by the accompanying map are the best that it has been possible to secure in years of investigation. They have been determined by actual sowings at three to five-day intervals during September and October for a series of years in various localities in the state. Drought or abnormal conditions of temperature cause the date to vary somewhat from year to year. Unusually dry weather through July and August will retard the appearance of the adult flies in the field and make the corresponding safe date a few days later. Drenching rains may sweep across narrow strips of country, causing the fly to emerge in advance of those from the dry areas on either side. Such occurrences cannot be foretold, and only the farmer in each section can take advantage of them. The farmer should act on the information here given, in accordance with his own best judgment, or that of the most successful wheat grower in his own immediate section of the country. In case of doubt, write to your Experiment Station for advice.

HEAR PETITION FOR DRAIN

County Board of Commissioners in Session Today

The county board of commissioners were in session this afternoon for the purpose of hearing the Geo. B. Moore, Jr., petition for improvements in a drain, as petitioned for a few weeks ago. The drain in question, is commonly known as Hodges Branch, flowing through the northwestern part of the city, diagonally, and affects over 100 property owners. The petition calls for certain improvements in the ditch, requesting that it be widened and deepened in order to carry away the surplus of water during a rainy season. Back waters from the ditch frequently causes a flood in that section of the city. The commissioners will probably appoint three viewers and together with Frank Catt, county surveyor, a report will be made, so that action can be taken in the matter. It is understood that there were no recommendations for the petition.

In loving remembrance of Dorothy May Smith, who died one year ago Aug. 14, 1919.

Sad is the memory of one year ago today.

When you left us all in sorrow, For that home so far away.

You bade no one a last farewell. You could say good-bye to none. A dear young heart had ceased to beat.

Before we knew that you had gone We often sit and think of you, When we are all alone.

For memory is the only thing That grief can call its own.

We miss you more and more each day.

MORE INCREASE IN EXPRESS IS SOUGHT

Application For Higher Rates to Reach Interstate Commission Soon, it is Expected

WAGE ADVANCE IS THE CAUSE

Recent Award of $43,000,000 Not Taken Into Consideration in The Decision

Washington, August 14—Application will be made soon to the interstate commerce commission, it was believed today, by the American Railway Express Company to increase express rates sufficiently to allow the additional wages recently awarded its employees. The new demand, it was said, will be for an increase in rates in addition to that of 12 1/2 per cent authorized yesterday by the commission.

The commission's award yesterday, which it is unofficially estimated, will add $35,000,000 to the annual income of the company, did not take into consideration the railroad labor board's award of the increased wages, approximating $43,000,000, to express company employees.

The rate increase authorized yesterday was only about one-half of the amount sought, the express company having requested authority to advance rates 25.16 per cent.

Rates on milk and cream, under the commission's decision, are further increased to correspond with the advance of 20 per cent for the transportation of such commodities granted the railroads, except where there are no competing railroads between the affected points. In the latter case an advance of 12 1/2 per cent is authorized.

In touching on the fact that the express company had received only about one-half of the increase asked, the commission expressed the opinion that the full amount awarded should be retained by the express company itself and that none of it should go to the railroad carriers.

The commission suggested that the present express company contracts with the railroads, under which 50.25 per cent of its gross earnings go to the roads for the carrier service, should be modified to this purpose.

Permission was granted the company to make new rates effective on one day's notice by filing blanket schedules with the commission, but the company is required to reissue its tariffs within ninety days of the effective date in the regular manner.

Nothing in the decision, the commission said, is to be taken as forecasting the determination of the application of the Adams, American, Southern and Wells Fargo companies for a continuance of their consolidation into the American Railway Express Company or on the proposed new contract between the consolidated company and the railroads which has been submitted to the commission for its approval.

Action on applications for higher rates filed with the shipping board by interstate water carriers under its jurisdiction will be postponed until after a hearing on the subject August 18, the board announced.

All such applications will be consolidated and shippers and other interested persons will be heard on the proposed advances, request for which followed the granting of substantial increase by the interstate commerce commission to water carriers under its supervision.

Famous Graveyard Town May Censor Epitaphs

Here lies the body of Mary Ann Lowder. She burst while drinking a sedlitz powder. Called from the world to her heavenly rest. She should have waited till it effervesced.

Leighton Buzzard, England. (By Mail)—Tombstones in the tiny secluded church yards of this old-world place, abound with epitaphs like the above, and it is felt that in bygone days the rollicking country yokels buried their best beloved with far too much mirth and levity.

The town clerk of Leighton Buzzard has been asked to confer with the chairman of the burial board with a view to censoring epitaphs. Hitherto the stonemason has carved the tombstones faithfully "according to copy", regardless of spelling and grammar, as evidenced by the following:

"Sacred to the memory of John Wardle and his wife and five children all of who passed away in their infancy."

Others, true, are philosophical without undue emotional display. The following masterpiece is traced on the tombstone of a long-deceased inkeeper:

"Our life is but a winter's day, Some only breakfast and away, Others to dinner stay and are full fed, The oldest man but sups and goes to bed, Large is his debt who lingers on the day, Who goes the soonest has the least to pay."

It is difficult to find a tombstone in Leighton Buzzard with a scriptural epitaph. The old, old grey stones, leaning against each other for support, depict the gamut of human emotions, from the sanctimonious to the burlesque, but none of them have borrowed words of comfort from Matthew, Mark, Luke or John.

However, the town clerk has ordered a new office Bible, the chairman of the burial board is polishing up his scriptural quotations and Leighton Buzzard will have to learn to be orthodox.

JAPS FRAME LAND LAW

Bill Provides Ownership by Foreigners of Land in Japan

(By United Press.)

Tokyo, (By Mail)—A particularly interesting bill which is likely to be introduced in the session of the Diet which has just opened, is that providing for ownership by foreigners of land in Japan, which may act as counter-move to the proposed anti-Japanese land legislation in California. As a matter of fact, such a bill passed the Diet some ten years ago, but as it was never promulgated it has remained a dead letter.

"The feature of the new law," said the Minister of Justice, Mr. Okada, "lies in the reciprocal feature underlying it. It is a marked improvement on the old law, recognizing land ownership by foreigners, provided Japanese are granted reciprocal rights in their respective countries. Furthermore, this new law will be applicable to all parts of Japan, except Korea and districts having strategic value."

League May be Revised

It is now reported that the Versailles treaty of peace may be revised, the European powers realizing that league of nations as insisted on by President Wilson has proven impotent and unworkable. Diplomats feel that nothing can be gained by reciting the mistake made in following Mr. Wilson's ideals which have caused present alarming conditions. The failure to deal with Russia in the Versailles pact, they assert, largely was due to the attention devoted to the idealistic plans of world reform, which have proven impossible. The unreal and academic feature of the Wilson league have been a constant cause of trouble. The consequent neglect to reckon with Russia was a vital mistake. To the credit of the majority members of the United States senate, far removed by distance and design from the peace table let it be said that this fatal omission of Russia from all consideration thereat promptly and forcibly was pointed out in the upper chamber. Senator Knox made specific reference to Russia's position and warned Americans, Russia inevitably would be drawn into war against the league. Senators Borah and Reed of the other side, and others, took the same stand, basing

NICKIE SAYS

THEY'RE SAYING THAT THE LEAGUE OF NATIONS IS A GOOD IDEA. BUT THEY'RE SAYING IT AFTER THE FACT. WHEN THE LEAGUE OF NATIONS WAS FIRST PROPOSED, IT WAS A GOOD IDEA. BUT NOW IT'S A BAD IDEA. IT'S A LEAGUE OF NATIONS, NOT A LEAGUE OF PEACE. IT'S A LEAGUE OF NATIONS, NOT A LEAGUE OF JUSTICE. IT'S A LEAGUE OF NATIONS, NOT A LEAGUE OF HONOR. IT'S A LEAGUE OF NATIONS, NOT A LEAGUE OF FAITH. IT'S A LEAGUE OF NATIONS, NOT A LEAGUE OF LOVE. IT'S A LEAGUE OF NATIONS, NOT A LEAGUE OF GOD.

League of Nations
Is Fading Away
(By William Hoster)

A particular case in point with regard to Wilson's League of Nations, the copyright of which Governor Cox has taken over from President Wilson, is the latest meeting of the League Council at San Sebastian, Spain. It is interesting to note, by the way, that the League has become a moving feast. It flitters ghost-like about Europe, like the inconsolable Wanderer of Eugene Sue's novel, pitching its tent, disclosing its wares lingering for a day, and then moving onward, ever onward into the night.

July 29 the Council of the League of Nations met at San Sebastian. It was an hour of dire peril for the whole world. A crisis had been reached in the war between Russia and Poland, and there was an even chance that all Europe would be engulfed in another bloody struggle with the issue at last joined between Bolshevism and Western Civilization. Of specific moment is the fact that there were not lacking Wilsonian urgings in the United States that this government owed an obligation to Poland which we could not ignore, despite the fact that we had declined to enter the League of Nations. It was a time of all times when the Covenant ought to have functioned for the maintenance of peace.

In this situation the Council of the League of Nations met in San Sebastian—as far removed from the theatre of war-like activities as it was possible to get—and took up the discussion of what?

"Making travelling easier in Europe!"

The quotation is from the Associated Press report of the proceedings of the meeting, which said in cable dispatch from San Sebastian dated July 30:

"The opening session of the Council of the League of Nations began this afternoon. The programme contained but practical questions, such as making travelling easier in Europe."

And another world war threatened!

As it happened the Supreme Council of the Allied Powers took hold of the situation, and the crisis was safely ridden for the time being.

The incident aptly illustrates the futility of the hopes which were rashly built upon the potency of the League of Nations in maintaining the peace; and at the same time affords fresh proof that in a time of national emergency, the practical statesmen of the nations directly concerned, League or no League, will assume control of a situation in which their national prestige and safety are at stake. Well enough to leave to the League of Nations such "practical" questions as "making travelling easier in Europe," if, indeed, the tourist agencies are not able to cope with this international problem; but where war threatens, or national prestige or safety are involved, the spirit of nationality predominates.

CONVINCED BEES CAN BE SAFELY HANDLED

C. O. Yost Was in Charge of Exhibit of a Colony at The Osgood Fair Last Week

RIPLEY A GOOD BEE COUNTY

Indianapolis, Ind., Aug. 14.—Several thousand persons attending the Ripley County fair at Osgood last week who watched C. O. Yost, state apiary inspector for the state department of conservation handle a colony of bees, were convinced that bees can be safely handled and a man who understands his business will not be stung by them.

Mr. Yost was in charge of an exhibit the division of entomology made at the fair, and the feature of the display which consisted of 100 mounts and charts illustrative of the most important insects that prey on Hoosier cereal and fruit crops, was the scientific handling of bees.

A colony of pure-bred Italian bees, enclosed in a wire-protected case was mounted on a five foot platform and in this cage with his sleeves rolled high and his head and face unprotected by a net, Yost demonstrated every phase of scientific bee culture. To force home his point that bees are responsive to the proper kind of treatment and are harmless, Yost rolled a pint of them into a ball and buried his face and poured them over his head and neck and emerged from the cage unharmed.

Ripley county has more than 200 beekeepers and the industry is rapidly growing in favor in that county. According to Frank N. Wallace, state entomologist, there are 25,000 beekeepers in Indiana who own approximately 225,000 colonies. He expects the Indiana honey crop this season to go in excess of 5 million pounds. The product is now selling from 30 to 50 cents a pound.

NOTTINGHAM, ENG.—Holding that a foot-ball ground was not a "public place" within the meaning of law, local magistrates refused to convict a football fan for using obscene language. There were 30,000 spectators, but it was held that the cusswords could not be heard on the highway.

However you travel

whether by rail, steamship, or automobile, you will find American Bankers Association checks the safest, handiest way to carry your money. "A. B. A." checks are safe, because if not countersigned they are useless to anyone but the owner. They are convenient, because hotels, railroads, steamship companies and merchants everywhere accept them as readily as cash in payment of bills, and because the only identification needed is the countersignature of the owner in the presence of the person accepting the checks.

HOW MUCH DOES IT COST TO BE A SAINT

Question is Hard to Answer as Cost of Canonization is Omitted to Figures in Details

PRICE IS DOWN HOWEVER

Monastic Orders that Begged Scores of Years in Order to Defray Expenses of Becoming a Saint

By CAMELLO GIANTARRA
(U. P. Staff Correspondent.)

Rome, July 22 (By Mail).—How much does it cost to become a saint?

"The question is hard to answer," said a prelate formerly connected with the Vatican exchequer, "as the cost of a canonization is the most difficult to figure in details, first because the items large and small to be taken into account are many; and second, because the cost of qualifying for a place on the altars of the Catholic church varies from saint to saint, and is chiefly based on the financial resources and wealth of the saint's relatives, or those of the religious order demanding his canonization.

"Today," the prelate continued, "the expenses connected with a canonization are not as heavy as they used to be. In the fourth, fifth and sixth centuries, the congregation of rites which has charge of the work, used to render bills that ran into millions.

"As is known, in past centuries the different monastic orders vied with one another in presenting to the church candidates for beatification first and canonization afterwards. The importance, prestige and renown of an order was based not on the services it rendered to the church or to mankind, but on the number of saints it had given to the church. The same was true for communities of Catholic countries. The canonization of a saint greatly increased the fame of his native town or city, and often gave his birth place a world-wide reputation.

"Padua, for instance, which has neither an artistic nor exceptionally historical claim to fame, is a household word because she was the cradle of St. Anthony, and because within her walls the saint used to perform thirteen miracles a day, and that for many years.

"According to documents existing in the archives of the Vatican, there are monastic orders that begged for scores of years in order to defray the expenses of a canonization. The small city of Paola, the birth place of St. Francis, went nearly bankrupt to raise her son to the honors of the altar. The present made to the then Pontiff Leo X, the munificent patron of arts of the Renaissance, alone were valued at $70,000.

"Benedict XIV, in his effort to democratize the church, and give the poor candidates a chance, greatly reduced the expenses but low as they are now, they still average from $40,000 to $50,000.

"The canonization of Jean d'Arch has cost considerably more. The life of the saint presented to the Pope cost 15,000 francs, and her portraits 10,000. What the cost is of the other oil portraits which had to be presented to the cardinal proposing the canonization, to the auditor, the secretary of the congregation of rites and the saint's lawyers, is not known. The price of the papal bull is nearly $700; the presents to those participating in the various ceremonies, are valued at $5,000, while the personnel of St. Peter's, archpriests, canons and attendants—received nearly $8,000.

"The translation of documents into Latin—and there are thousands of pages of them—cost 8 cents a page, and what the fee was of the medical experts and the several lawyers defending the saint against the attacks of the church prosecutor is not known to the public.

"It is interesting to add," the prelate concluded, "that many who aspired to title of saints went no further than the rank of blessed because either their families or their sponsors failed to raise the necessary funds. This was the case of the Blessed Frederick Borromeo, a cousin of St. Charles, of the well-known noble Milanese family, who went no farther than the beatification because the canonization of St. Charles had cost such a fabulous sum."

PRICES FALL AS SPENDING STOPS

July Sales in London Prove That Production Has Caught up With Demand in Many Essentials

MAY OBTAIN REAL BARGAINS

British Purchasers Took Stand That Forced Storekeepers to Cut Cost to Public

By CHARLES McCANN
(U. P. Staff Correspondent.)

London, July 27 (By Mail).—July "sales" in London prove that production has caught up with demand in a great many essentials.

For four years the July "sales" were mere pretenses. But this year the careful purchaser has been able to obtain real bargains. The storekeepers for some time past have been coming to the realization that they must attract customers. At one time they let their customers feel they were doing them a real favor by serving them at all. Competition was at a standstill and prices continued to soar.

The wild orgy of spending which was indulged in by the new rich is beginning to wane. People are learning the wisdom of doing without those non-essentials which they consider too expensive, and this year the store-keeper has "felt the draught."

In addition, the improved rate of exchange between Great Britain and America, has brought prices down considerably. This is specially noticeable in women's wear. Chinese and Japanese silks are greatly down. Silk stockings have tumbled 30 per cent.

Imported meat is very cheap, and in some parts of London is being ordered at 8 cents a pound.

In Northampton there are warehouses full of boots awaiting purchasers.

Last year women almost went on bended knee to their dressmakers, begging them to accept their orders. This year the dressmakers are doing the soliciting.

Hotel managers everywhere complain that "People are not spending as they did last year." This is noticeable not only among their British patrons but the Americans, too. There is no tendency among the latter to pay "fancy prices" for anything, and the would-be profiteer is disappointed. His American victim doesn't intend to be a victim at all.

"How much did you say?" he asks. "O, that's far too much. I'll wait until it gets cheaper." And he goes away leaving the chagrined salesman wishing he had asked a fairer price.

The Englishman has resigned himself to the fact that prices of certain commodities are bound to remain higher than in pre-war days. Great increases in miners' wages have permanently raised the price of coal, which in its turn affects the prices of all manufactured articles.

"That," said an Englishman discussing the topic, "seems quite reasonable. After all the miners are getting better living conditions—and they deserve them!"

But on one thing the Englishman has made up his mind. The plain, unadorned profiteer isn't going to get better living conditions at his expense. When the intending purchaser is confronted with exorbitant prices, he puts his money back into his pocket; with the result that this season's "sales" have produced some real bargains and the position of salesman and purchaser is gradually returning to that of pre-war "Tempter and Tempted."

TOURISTS IN AWE AT DEVASTATION

Jean Rogier Traveled With American Tourists to Learn What Effect Sight of Battlefields Would Have

NO EXHIBERANCE OF GESTURE

Their Silence Translated Their Emotions and Spoke Loudly Their Most Vehement Cries

Paris, July 24. (By Mail)—Here is the impression that the first American after-the-war tourists—especially the battlefield tourists—is making on the French.

Jean Rogier, leading French writer, to learn just what effect the sight of the French battlefields and devastated regions might make on Americans, seeing them for the first time, made a four-day trip with American tourists to Chalons, Saint Mihiel, Verdun, the Argonne, Champagne, Reims and Soissons.

"During those four days," Rogier declared to the United Press, "I lived with them, I watched their gestures, I studied their attitudes, I lay in waiting for their looks and glances, I observed their words, and I think I read their hearts."

"These Americans, especially the older ones, were very gay and their gaiety, rather boyish, if not childish at times, first grated on me and then shocked me. I would prefer to meet them grave and already prepared for the sorrowful proof to which they were to be subjected."

"But suddenly amongst the very first ruins, this gaiety died and seemed to bury itself in the stones of the overthrown villages. They no longer laughed and no longer joked."

"The frightful image of the war began to appear. It was there before their eyes and no longer were they able to turn their eyes away. They looked with frightened glances at the dismembered houses, at the demolished church towers, at the ruined churches, at the torn and twisted iron work of former factories, at the riddled walls and all of the hideous skeletons of the war which passed along at the side of their automobiles like black skeletons."

"With extended arms the American tourists pointed out in the distance huge red spots that either stood out against the green verdure of hills or that reddened the grass of the prairies."

"Burned—burned—a village burned—Oh! Oh! Oh!"

"Their lips never ceased to repeat this trembling lamentation in tones that intermixed their pity, their sorrow, their indignation and their anger."

"There are people whose sensibilities are suddenly aroused at moments like the opening and shutting of doors and there are others where the sensibilities remain like a silent and vigilant servant."

"With these Americans there was no exuberance of gesture, no frays of words, no extravagance of expression. It was only on their faces and in their eyes that I could read their impressions and see the souls that reflected. Their silence translated their emotions and spoke more loudly than as though they had uttered the most vehement cries."

"As yet the thought of death had not been borne in to them. It only struck them as they stood before Belleau Wood and Romagne where 27,000 graves lie dug in the shade of the trees."

MAN TAKES EXAMINATION

Jesse Stevens Only Applicant For New Salem Postoffice

The examination was held here today for the civil service appointment of a postmaster for the town of New Salem, and only one applicant, Jesse Stevens, took the examination. The examination was ordered by the Civil Service Commission, following the resignation of G. W. Higgins, who has held the office there for several years. The vacancy exists after September 30.

The examination was held in the local postoffice under the supervision of Clarence Cross, who is in charge of civil service examinations for this county. A few weeks ago a similar examination was held for the Milroy postoffice, at which time only one person applied, it being a woman in that case. Mr. Stevens is a barber of New Salem, and formerly lived in this city.

GOV. GOODRICH TO ATTEND MEETING

Invitations Issued For Visitors' Meeting at Clark County State Forest Reserve Aug. 19

FOREST HAS 2,000 ACRES

Various Gun Clubs Prepare to Attend and Inspect The Reserve as a Game Preserve

Indianapolis, Ind., Aug. 14.—Gov. James P. Goodrich will attend visitors' day meeting at the Clark County State Forest Reserve near Henryville on Aug. 19 and appear on the program for a short address. This announcement was made today by Richard Lieber, director of the state department of conservation, who recently issued an invitation for everyone in the state who could to attend this meeting.

Invitations have been sent to Mrs. E. C. Rumppler, president of the Indiana Federation of Clubs, and Miss Vida Newsom of Columbus, Republican county woman chairman for Bartholomew, and to every candidate on the Democratic and Republican state tickets. A number have assured their presence and others tentatively agree to attend. Mrs. Rumppler and Miss Newsom have been asked to make short talks. Sen. James E. Watson who addresses a meeting at Dupont on August 18, will probably attend and it is very likely that Thomas Taggart, Democratic candidate to the U. S. Senate, will be present.

Members of the various gun clubs of the state are preparing to attend and inspect the state forest reserve as a game preserve, the object of their visit being to study the possibilities of establishing game preserves throughout Indiana.

The Clark County forest contains 2,000 acres and was purchased in 1903. At this time the reserve consisted of 17 farms and contained practically no wild game. Since the purchase, hunting has been prohibited and today the woods is one big sanctuary for opossum, skunk, raccoon. Rabbits are so numerous and each year have been doing so much damage to the smaller trees that the reserve officials find it necessary to wrap many of the fruit and ornamental trees to prevent girdling. This fall the state plans to permit a public hunt at which time sportsmen from over the state will be invited to assist in reducing the rabbit pest.

Whether the sportsmen at this meeting will take active steps toward purchasing game preserves, is a question likely to be raised. However it is certain they will heartily endorse a movement intended to acquire more state forests.

It is known that the game from state forests in other states yield a good income, and the idea is to make the same project profitable in Indiana. Pelts from the fur-bearers in the Clark County forest reserve should command a very handsome figure.

the side, overturning it. The view at the intersection was obstructed on all sides by corn fields and is considered as a dangerous crossing by people living in that vicinity.

Dr. Schank advised that the injured people remain at the Arnold residence, because of the seriousness of their injuries. Mr. Palsgrove was said to be in a serious condition last night and it may take several days for each of them to pass the crisis.

Mr. Palsgrove is known here, being secretary of the Shelbyville Rotary Club and also secretary of the Chamber of Commerce of that city.

21 BELGIANS TO STUDY IN U.S.

Exchange of Students Under Hoover Foundation Operative This Fall — 1750 From America

SET ASIDE 90 MILLION FRANCS

Plan Presented to Belgian Government and Gifts Accepted by Premier Delacroix

By H. H. SHENFIELD (U. S. Staff Correspondent)

Brussels, July 31. (By Mail)—Two Belgian students have already embarked for America to enter the University of California to take advantage of the exchange of students plan contained in the new civil charter of the Hoover University Foundation. Nineteen other students will leave Antwerp September 1 to enter other American universities.

Other schools drawing students follows: Yale, Harvard, Princeton, Stanford, Massachusetts Tech, Columbia, Cornell, Chicago, Pennsylvania and Johns Hopkins. The schools they will go from are 6 from Brussels, 8 from Louvain, 4 from Liege, 2 from Ghent and one from Mons.

Seventeen American youths will enter Belgian universities in accordance with the terms of the exchange plan. Their names have not yet been made public.

The Hoover Foundation is the outcome of what started out as the Committee for the Relief of Belgium at the outbreak of the war in Europe. It was established as a private enterprise by Herbert Hoover whom Belgians still call blessed. When the committee's task of relieving sufferings was completed a sufficient balance was left in the treasurer not only to reimburse the Belgian government for the five hundred million francs it had contributed, but also there was a sum of between 150 and 160 millions of francs which the committee was free to do with as it saw fit.

In its solicitude for Belgium's youth, the money was set aside for high education. After consultation with officials of the four Belgian universities and the Mons School of Mines, it was decided to set aside 90 million francs for development of those schools, and 70 millions to be used as a foundation to make money advances to worthy Belgian students supplying them with the wherewithal to complete higher studies. A plan for exchange of students with the largest universities of the United States was also included in the foundation.

The plan was presented to the Belgian government and the gifts accepted with gratitude by Premier Delacroix. A bill was later framed for "civil personification" or incorporation of the foundation to empower it to operate under Belgian statutes.

the "leaderless" legislature. He also spoke of the subservience of the legislature to "three or four men who cracked the whip and they jumped through."

The two candidates were accompanied here by Mr. Trabue, George DeHority of Elwood, democratic candidate for treasurer of state, and Charles R. Hughes of Peru, candidate for auditor of state.

Included among those entertained at lunch were Mrs. Sam Inhis and Mrs. Winnifred Dill. Other guests were John Wallace, democratic county chairman, Gates Ketchum, Frank J. Hall, John D. Megee, Douglas Morris, J. T. Arbuckle and others.

Odessa to attack the Bolsheviks.

Arrangements were made at Warsaw today, according to a dispatch from the foreign office today, for Poland and Wrangel to cooperate to the fullest extent against the Bolsheviks. It was reported that Wrangel had established headquarters at Warsaw.

French strategists do not believe that a "last ditch" defense of Warsaw was necessary.

General Weyand, French advisor in Poland, refused to take command of the armies because he differed with Marshal Pilsudski, who insisted that the capital be held to the last.

The diplomatic split between France and Britain over Russia is believed to have been caused by the French and British.

FALLACIES SHOWN

Those countries are over there, care of our own difficulties first, last and always," continued Governor Morrow.

He emphasized the egotistical manner in which Woodrow Wilson had conducted, or had attempted to conduct the affairs of this country, running as far as he was possible, a one man government. He pointed out the dismissals and resignations of his appointed officers from their offices, because they were unable to work in harmony with each other.

When he returned from Versailles with the League of Nations, he presented it to the congress as being "his" league, and that it must be accepted, or the heart of the world would be broken. The league was written by a man from South Africa declared Governor Morrow, and not a single word was put in the league of an American—yet it was Woodrow Wilson's league.

Governor Morrow asserted that first test for the League of Nations had proven a failure, and cited the present situation in Poland, which he asserted was over territorial limitations. "France tells England that she is going to send artillery and airplanes into Poland, but England tells France that she will not, and now two European countries are quarreling, undecided what to do," continued Governor Morrow.

And speaking further he said, "At the present time in Europe there are ten wars raging, in which there are 4,000,000 men involved in fighting, and we, the United States, are asked to pitch into the midst of it, to take part in a fight at which we have no issue at stake."

"But if the United States were now a part of the League of Nations, and the Polish question would arise, the league would take a vote, France and England would both say 'let the United States do the job,' and because of our sacred obligation as a member of the alliance, we would either be compelled to send troops and money, or else be pointed out as having broken faith with the other countries."

Governor Morrow devoted a considerable portion of his time to an appeal of the business men, asking that they give the business administration of the Wilson term, a good going over, and see if they would like to have their own business managed by such people.

He cited the railroad administration, and during the 26 months that the government had control of them, it cost the people of the United States, $1,370,000,000 a greater portion of which was paid by the business men.

The taking over of the telegraph and telephone lines by the government cost $14,000,000.

He appealed to the women, and explained the sugar deal, and why the price had been as high as 35 cents a pound. It was the fault of the sugar board, declared Governor Morrow, a board representing the business end of the government.

Cuban refiners offered in September, 1919 the entire output to the United States for 6 1/2 cents a pound, which would have retailed for ten and eleven cents, but the board wouldn't buy, and Great Britain and other countries got the sugar, and what was left in the United States was boosted to high prices, because they knew that it could be obtained.

"The sugar deal," because President wouldn't permit the board buying at 6 1/2 cents a pound," said Gov. Morrow, "cost the people of the United States, $1,444,000,000, or for every family of five persons, it cost $72 more than was necessary."

Continuing on the business end of the government, he told about the surplus war materials and food that was purchased which almost had to be given away. He told of selling 5,000,000 pair of shoes in France, while this country was going almost barefooted, the shoes being sold there for 12 1/2 cents on the dollar value, with ten years in which to pay for them.

"The government expended one billion dollars for airplanes for the recent war, and when the Armistice was signed, we did not have a single battle plane in France, and all that we did have was 94 observation planes, a vast amount of money wasted with no results," said Gov. Morrow.

He told about buying 900,000 saddles and the same number of bridles and blankets for horses, while the United States government had only 300,000 horses to supply. For these same 300,000 horses, he declared that the government bought 190,000 branding irons.

Five months after the signing of the armistice the United States shipped to France 25,000 automobiles for use in Germany on the way the government shipped these machines were sold in France for 15 cents on the dollar.

machines, and many of us poor souls over here wishing that we had an automobile."

The democratic administration also permitted the manufacture of heavy artillery in this country for war use, six months after the signing of the armistice, and all this waste must be paid by the people," he asked. "Is there now reason why taxes are high?" asked Governor Morrow.

"People are always anxious to know what the Republicans will do, but I want to tell you, that the Republican Congress so far has saved you two billion dollars. The appropriation list was gone over carefully, and they decided to cut out some of the extravagances," he asserted, "and for the first time for four years, the income is now exceeding the amount that is being paid out by the country."

Governor Morrow paid a tribute to Senator Watson and Senator Harding, and urged that with these men and the entire Republican ticket sanity could be restored in this country.

"Hairpins" at the Princes Tonight

Powder puffs and rouge—those delightful aids to feminine conquest meant nothing in the young life of Muriel Rossmore. It didn't matter much to her whether her hair was knotted or streaming down on her shoulders in shapless array. She was just an old-fashioned and ultra-domestic housewife.

So that's why her husband, Rex, found pleasure in his associations with his pretty stenographer while Muriel remained at home to combat the high cost of living. But when Muriel discovered her husband's desire for daintiness and pretty clothes, it became quite a different matter. She would show him! And she did.

"Hairpins," Thomas H. Ince's Paramount Arteract photoplay starring Enid Bennett, a penetrating story of domestic life written by C. Gardner Sullivan, will be shown at the Princess theater tonight only. Miss Bennett has never had a more appealing role than that which she portrays in this delightful picture, while Matt Moore, in the role of Mr. Rossmore, gives an excellent characterization of the discontented husband.

One of the most absorbing and thrilling stories ever written, "The Illustrious Prince," from the pen of the brilliant E. Phillips Oppenheim, is utilized by Sessue Hayakawa, the Japanese star, as a screen drama, will be shown at the Mystic Monday.

This story is that of a Japanese Prince who trailed to London the cosmopolitan tone and adventurer who had brought disgrace to the Prince's father. Prince Mayo arrives at the home of the Duke of Devonham, his dearest friend, in time to circumvent the adventurer in his attempts to dishonor the wife of the Duke. When the cosmopolitan Prince is found murdered, suspicion points to the Prince's friend, the Duke. The solution of the mystery and the confession of the red criminal provide a series of intensely dramatic episodes of a tightly-colored and sensational character.

The story moves at a fast tempo throughout, interest never laps, while the sensational settings and striking light effects set a new standard for excitement and thrills.

INDIANA STATE BUREAU OF STATISTICS

Statistics Prepared—Show That Sheep Have Increased in Rush County Since March 31.

TOWNSHIP SUPPLY THE DATA

The live stock report for the quarter ending June 30, made by the Indiana Federation of Farmers' Associations and Geo. C. Pyrah, statistician for the U. S. Department of Agriculture, shows that the numbers of cattle and hogs being prepared for the market in Indiana have materially decreased since March 31, but that sheep have increased somewhat. It is estimated that there were 1,912,000 cattle of all kinds on farms June 30, compared with 1,934,000 on hand March 31, or a decrease of 1.6 percent. The females for breeding purpose decreased from 800,000 to 817,000 or 2.3 percent and the stock being prepared for market decreased from 960,000 to 99,000 or 6.2 percent. The estimate for swine of all kinds on June 30 was 5,192,000 compared with 5,611,000 March 31 and is an increase of 10.2 percent. The females for breeding June 30 was 768,000 compared with 846,000 on March 31 or a decrease of 9.2 percent, while the number being prepared for market decreased from 2,365,000 to 1,850,000 or 30 percent during the quarter. Sheep increased somewhat for all classes; being 1,216,000 on June 30 and 1,058,000 on March 31 which is an increase of 14.9 percent. Females for breeding increased from 550,000 to 585,000 or 6.4 percent and those being prepared for market increased from 52,000 to 144,000 or 177 percent, but considering the meat value of the various classes of animals the increase in the number of sheep does not amount to a great deal.

Garden Beauty Most Anyone Can Afford

Look about as you walk or drive through a residential district and note the attractive places. If not the "finest" homes by any means that catch your eye. More often it is the well kept yard, the shrubbery, the trimmed trees and flower beds.

And then when you see in combination with these, a neat fence, an arbor, a pergola and a bird house—you exclaim: "What a picture."

The wonder of it is that more folks don't have these tasty little garden features. There's nothing cooler and better looking. And the cost! You'll be surprised how reasonable it is.

We'll take just as much interest in supplying you with the lumber for these little improvements as if you were buying materials for a house. We can make some interesting suggestions.

For a Pain around the Heart after Eating.

Sometimes in front just under the heart, sometimes around under the left side, under the ribs behind the heart, it's a sharp or acute pain; sometimes a dull heavy pain, moving between the ribs on the inside generated through gaseous food, or because of systematic inability to properly assimilate the food. This gas is collected, forms a lump that causes the pain. This is only one of a dozen different indications of indigestion which PEP-SINCO eliminates. PEP-SINCO is the only medicine that cures the pain.

MILROY ASSEMBLY GERMAN FIGHT TO
TO OPEN SUNDAY CONTROL BIRTHS

First Free Chautauqua Will Begin at Night With Stereopticon Show and Concert

PROVIDED BY LOCAL TALENT.

Program Will Formally Begin Monday Afternoon And Will Continue for Five Days

The first free chautauqua ever held in Milroy will open Sunday evening with a musical program by Mrs. Russel Horton, formerly Miss Leona Thomas, and her orchestra, and the showing of some stereopticon views of scenes in the west, which were obtained by W. M. Bosley of Milroy while he was attending the Shriners' meeting in Portland this summer.

The Rev. W. R. Crady, pastor of the Milroy Christian church, will operate the machine, and Mr. Bosley will explain the views as they are shown. The Rev. R. R. Cross, pastor of the Milroy Methodist church, will be in charge of the devotional exercises.

The formal chautauqua program will begin Monday afternoon and continue for five days. The tent was expected to arrive in Milroy today and was to be erected in time for the meeting Sunday night, in the McGorkle pasture.

What is expected to be the big day will be next Wednesday, when the band comes. The Neapolitans will give a concert both afternoon and evening.

The junior work is always a big feature of the Milroy chautauqua, and the leaders—Mrs. C. S. Houghland and Miss Emma Terhune—are now at work organizing the children.

The children will give a "Mother Goose Party" and athletic stunts on the afternoon of the first day, which is next Friday.

A resume of the program follows: Sunday evening—Exercises by local talent.

Monday evening—Concert and lecture by the Brewster entertainers.

Monday evening—Concert, and lecture by Dr. J. Franklin Babb of Boston.

Tuesday afternoon—Concert by Charles Fredrick Bonawitz, Italian baritone, and lecture "Danger Signals on the Road to Health", by Edna Eugenia Lowe.

Tuesday evening—Concert; lecture, "Awake, Ye Dry Bones", by J. C. Herbsman, humorist.

Wednesday afternoon and evening—Band concert.

Thursday afternoon—The Letter grand opera company; lecture, "The Invisible Frontier", by Capt. Stanley Nelson Dancy, of the Canadian army.

Thursday evening—Concert.

Friday afternoon—Junior program concert by Swiss singers and players.

Friday evening—Concert; lecture, "What's Wrong with the World", by J. Adam Bede.

PUT 126,700 FISH IN
65 STREAMS IN JULY

Every Effort Being Made by Conservation Department to Make Ind. Lakes Known as Bass Waters

MR. BERG MAKES A REPORT.

Indianapolis, Ind., Aug. 14—A total of 126,700 yellow perch, large-mouthed black-bass and blue gill baby fish were planted in 65 streams and lakes in twenty-two counties in Indiana during the month of July according to announcement today by George Berg, superintendent of hatcheries for the state conservation department. These plantings were from the three northern hatcheries at Bass Lake, Tri-Lakes, and Wawasee Lake. The July plantings consisted of 5,500 yellow perch, 39,000 blue gills, and 82,200 black bass, and the total distribution of the three hatcheries since this season opened several weeks ago is 171,200 baby fish, Mr. Berg's report shows.

Every effort is being made by the conservation department to make Indiana lakes and streams known as bass waters, and now that an efficient warden service is functioning to suppress the fish pirates and others who take fish illegally, department officials express confidence that Indiana in a few years will become widely known among tourists as the ideal state for game fishing.

Socialists Attack Law Forbidding
Criminal Operations—Too Many Children Undernourished

TO CONSIDER BILL IN SEPT.

Many Persons And Organizations
Back of Movement to Abolish
Law Against Operations

By CARL D. GROAT
(U. P. Staff Correspondent.)
Berlin, July 23. (By Mail).—"Every woman ought to have the right of control over her own body. As it is now thousands of women are forced to bring children into the world undernourished, sickly babies who from the outset are doomed to poverty and ill health, in other words without even a chance of growing up to happy and useful lives."

Laise Zeitz, independent socialist who will make the introductory reichstag speech for the bill cancelling the law against criminal operations, so expressed her reasons for backing this proposal when interviewed by the United Press.

Fran Zeitz is known as one of the most fiery orators in the reichstag and holds no brief for criminal operations per se, but regards the present system as hypocritical and unfair, permitting rich mothers to bring children into the world or have an operation, while poor mothers are punished for either course they take—too many children to take care of or prison for the operation. She pointed out that while the rich are able to get the best treatment and advice and their secret is kept from gossiping mouths, the poor are forced to consult cheap, untrained and so-called women and are often found out if the operation fails.

The bill, which proposes to abolish the famous paragraph 218, will be backed by the independent socialists who believe they will later obtain support of the majority socialists. The first consideration of the bill will probably be in September.

Under paragraph 218, known to every German, the law provides for up to ten years' imprisonment for performance of criminal operations, or for up to five years' imprisonment for attempting to perform one. One case is on record in Berlin where a girl drank a preparation of sugar water thinking to rid herself of a child. She was sent to prison for five years, although her method of attempt was regarded as harmless.

Many prominent persons and organizations are back of the movement to abolish the paragraph. Among them is the League for Mothers, whose chief aim is protect the vast numbers of unwedded mothers in Germany.

BOARD TO DECIDE ON
PLAN TO USE MONEY

State to Receive $110,521.05 From Government to Train Persons
Crippled in Industry

A FEDERAL APPROPRIATION.

Indianapolis, Ind., Aug. 14—Plans for using money which the state will receive from the federal appropriation in training persons crippled in industry and otherwise will be laid before the meeting of the state board of education, according to J. G. Collicott, director of vocational training.

"The money will be devoted almost entirely to individual training," said Collicott. "The state will receive $110,521.05 between June 30, 1921 and June 30, 1924 from the government and we will seek a like appropriation from the Indiana Legislature."

Among the schools which will benefit are: Auburn, Columbia City, Crawfordsville, Elkhart, Evansville, Ft. Wayne, Frankfort, Gary, Gosport, Hammond, Indianapolis, Muncie, Seymour, Shelbyville, South Bend, Terre Haute, Warsaw, Vincennes, Whiting, and Princeton.

HULL, ENG.—Having "had a good time in life", T. H. Whiteside invited his family to do the same. In his will he said "It is my earnest desire that my wife, children and friends shall not wear mourning more than seven days after my death. On the eighth day, play the piano for not less than fifteen minutes then go for a walk, or better still, to see something amusing, and start to enjoy life as if I were with you."
